Cave City, Ky., February 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—Floyd Collins' legs will be amputated just above his ankle in order to expedite his delivery from Sand Cave, if officials in charge of the rescue work decide further lateral operations are too dangerous to workers who already have risked their lives to secure the cave man's release.

Complete reorganization of the state highway department along entirely new lines was demanded in a statement issued Monday by Frederic H. McDonald, managing director of the Georgia Industrial bureau, following a conference of a group of members of the association who have been conducting a campaign for a good roads bond issue in Georgia for several years. Abandonment of all campaigns for good roads will be necessary until entire confidence in the administrative machinery of the department is restored, according to the statement.

Splendid progress in the Georgia campaign to raise an endowment fund for the Berry Schools, just north of Rome, Ga., was reported at a meeting of Atlanta members of the board of trustees, held Monday in the office of Robert C. Alston, chairman of the board, in the Citizens & Southern Bank building.

In a drastic effort to lesson burglaries and holdups in Atlanta, 25 patrolmen were added to the police force by the police committee of city council Monday night, and will go on duty at 9 o'clock tonight. Action of the committee followed adoption of an amendment to the finance sheet by city council Monday afternoon, providing $35,542.50 for salaries of the additional men for the remainder of the year.

The probe of conditions at Grady hospital, promised by Mayor Walter A. Sims and other city officials following charges last week of irregularities, will be started as soon as Superintendent Steve R. Johnson is able to leave a sick bed, it was stated Monday afternoon by Alderman R. A. Gordon, chairman of the hospitals and charities committee of city council.

Sweeping denial of an alleged conspiracy between himself, former Warden Albert E. Sartain, and former Deputy Warden Looney J. Fletcher to accept bribes from wealthy prisoners of the Atlanta federal prison was made in the federal court Monday afternoon, by Laurence ("Heine") Riehl, of Columbus, Ohio. Riehl was the first of the three defendants, who will take the stand in an effort to refute charges that they conspired to accept $10,500 bribe money from seven men convicted in the Savannah "rum ring exposure," in return for which the prisoners were to get "soft" jobs while serving their sentences.

Shrouded by mystery is the shooting of E. A. Thompson, 39, a salesman, who lies mortally wounded at Grady hospital, a bullet wound through his left chest.

As the $250,000 drive for removal of Columbia Theological seminary to this city enters its final lap today all forces interested in the welfare of Atlanta have joined in the movement which 550 volunteers have waged relentlessly for the past week.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Cave City, Ky., February 16.—The long struggle is ended. Mother Earth, after clinging grimly and in death to Floyd Collins for more than 17 days, finally succumbed at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon, and without warning opened a tiny hole between a rescue shaft and the natural tomb of the cave explorer.

Publication of this statement was the outgrowth of The Constitution's recent disclosures of charges of irregularities in the department. It followed closely a demand made by Chairman John N. Holder, of the state highway board, on chairmen of the senate and house highway committees of legislature to institute an immediate probe of all affairs of the highway department.

New subscriptions totalling $3,205 follow:

Although 24 supernumeraries were dropped by the police committee Monday night, rumors of an impending shake-up were quieted. Reports circulated during the afternoon dealt with an upheaval in the department which would touch every branch, and which possibly might include the office of acting chief. All members of the committee denied that there is any probability of such a shake-up in the immediate future.

A resolution passed by council Monday afternoon instructed the hospitals and charities committee to investigate all phases of charges which have been preferred and Mayor Sims has called a meeting of that body for 7 o'clock Wednesday night, at which time the charges will be heard.

Thompson was rushed to Grady hospital by two private physicians who were called by members of the family and who, detectives learned, after working over him for an hour or more, said his condition was precarious and demanded he be sent to the hospital and authorities notified.

The victim was found in a bedroom of his home at 30 East Ninth street early Monday night by his 14-year-old daughter, Martha. She was the only one the city and county authorities could get to talk. Mrs. Thompson, who did not accompany her husband to the hospital. Neighbors said she was "too ill to talk" Monday night.

Only $51,568.50 remains to be subscribed to guarantee removal from Columbia, S. C., to Atlanta of the famous Presbyterian Theological seminary. Monday's drive netted a total of $54,400.50 which, added to the $144,031, reported at Saturday's close, ran the grand total to $197,431.50—or little more than $50,000 short of the amount required.

But they will reclaim his body, only to restore it again to the rugged hills he roamed as a youth and explored as a man.

Chairman Holder's demand was made after W. T. Anderson, of Macon, associate member of the state highway board, had made certain charges of "irregularities" against Chairman John N. Holder, of the state highway board, on chairmen of the senate and house highway committees of legislature to institute an immediate probe of all affairs of the highway department.

Following are the men promoted from supernumeraries to regulars Monday night, and who will go on duty in plain clothes tonight:

The resolution asking the investigation was introduced by Alderman J. L. Allen, who previously had signified his intention of asking that a special committee be appointed which would have power to subpoena witnesses and records. The clause referring to a special committee, however, was omitted and Mr. Couch asked that the probe be conducted by the hospitals committee.

Charges of irregularities and favoritism made last week were augmented by afternoon with accusations that patients at the institution have been mistreated by hospital employees. The charge was made after a negro orderly, who gave his name as John Bostick, had been arrested on charges of having attacked N. A. Benefield, a convalescing patient. The negro is held at police station without bond and his trial has been set for this morning.

Both defense and prosecution showed a tendency to speed up the trial Monday and indications were that it might get to the jury by Friday. Riehl, however, occupied the witness stand more than two hours and may be called back when court opens today. Sartain and Fletcher will be kept on the stand even longer, it was indicated.

Martha, the daughter, told detectives she was attracted to one of the bedrooms of the Thompson home by a cry from her father. She found him with a bullet wound in his chest. That's all she knows about it, she says. Further developments were expected and there are a dozen or more various city and county men working on the case. The family is well-to-do, neighbors said.

On a basis of dollars and cents, putting any estimate of the vast influence of a tremendous theological seminary in this city, Atlanta is asked which will collect an investment of $25 cents in order to obtain $2 in an investment.

Thank God, they've found him. This was Lee Collins' single statement after his boy had been found. Four men were in the shaft when the final stroke came with startling suddenness. They were Albert Marshall, of Danville; A. Blevins, Louisville; Simon Johnson and John Stevens. Silently they toiled, as they had done for unnumbered hours before when Blevins, as he plunged his spade into the earth, broke the final connecting link.

Passage of the resolutions, Chairman Holder's rejection of his demand for an investigation and announcement that the audit of the payroll accounts at East Point showing discrepancies of approximately $1,000 in the accounts of J. B. Bereth, former paymaster now under arrest in Fulton tower charged with embezzlement will be reported to Governor Walker Tuesday morning by Auditor C. R. Dawson were outstanding developments in the highway probe Monday.

Two subscriptions totalling $700 were reported from Rome, Ga. These, however, are not listed above inasmuch as they will be credited on the $15,000 subscription which the Rome Chamber of Commerce has already undertaken to raise.

The new men will be stationed in the residential sections between 9 o'clock at night and 5 o'clock in the morning in an attempt to curb the rapidly-increasing number of hold-ups, burglaries and other crimes.

Chief Jett called each of the new men into his office Monday night, instructed them as to their new duties, and warned them to "make good or get off the job." Disposition of the additional men has not been decided definitely, Chief Jett said, but they

GEORGIA INCLUDED IN FOREST PLANS

Washington, February 16.—Purchase by the government of 124,024 acres in ten eastern states for additions to national forests at an average price of not more than $5.24 an acre was recommended today by the national forest reservation commission.

The land recommended for purchase includes 30,624 acres in Georgia; 23,820 acres in Pennsylvania; 21,611 in New Hampshire; 10,578 in Virginia; 15,093 in North Carolina; 2,500 in West Virginia; 11,539 in Tennessee; 3,040 in South Carolina; 1,045 in Alabama and 5,098 in Arkansas.

The commission also recommended appropriation of $3,000,000 for further purchase of additions to national forests.

National forests in eastern states, including the areas recommended today, comprise 2,580,044 acres, a statement by the commission said.

The commission includes the secretaries of war, interior and agriculture, Senators Overman, of North Carolina, and Kuylen, of New Hampshire, and Representatives Lee, of Georgia, and Hawley, of Oregon.

In the absence of definite information and the fact that it was impossible to get in touch with the officials of the department of forestry Monday night, it was believed that the land referred to in the foregoing dispatch is in the neighborhood of Porter Springs (Lumpkin county) and adjoining large government holdings in company, also of Rome, wires, "We are glad to pledge, through Rome chamber of commerce, two hundred dollars to the Berry school fund. This school is doing a great work and has our heartiest endorsement."

The drive for this endowment fund was launched in Georgia one week ago, following the offer of Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times, to raise a million dollars in a nationwide campaign, provided Georgia would raise the first $100,000.

Georgia promptly accepted this challenge and the fund received a tremendous lift at the outset when Mrs. G. Candler, Jr., offered to match whatever amount the state gave, up to $50,000, thus taking care of half of the requested $100,000 at once.

Hope For Over-subscription.

Since that date, under leadership of The Constitution, which was requested to conduct the campaign, and with Clark Howell as chairman, the committee named by the trustees, subscriptions have come in daily in a steady stream which shows no signs of diminution. It is believed that the state will considerably over-subscribe its quota, thus setting an example to the rest of the nation which, it is hoped, will be followed to the extent of a proportional over-subscription.

Many of the subscriptions acknowledged in the above list have unusual stories of human interest attached. All classes, all walks in life are represented among the givers.

Mr. McRay sent his subscription of $1,000 all the way from Indiana. His check was for the full amount. The other $1,000 given of Monday, F. P. Turner, of Albany, Ga., also sent check in full.

Pay One-Fourth.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Cox, Jr., of Monticello, sent a check for $25 on their $100 subscription, taking advantage of the arrangement whereby subscriptions may be made in four semi-annual payments.

The gift from Lawrenceville also was paid in full. The donor requested that his name be withheld.

The other anonymous gift of the day, of $5, represents as great a gift to the giver as any of the largest subscriptions have meant to those who gave them. This was from a young working girl of Atlanta, who came to the Constitution office. The money she gave was from her own savings out of a very moderate salary, but she said she was anxious to do what ever she could to help an institution such as Berry schools, bringing practical education to country boys and girls who otherwise would be unable to secure any education at all.

J. H. Blalock, who gave $5, is a colored resident of Atlanta. He called at the office of Mr. Alton and said he wanted to give to the fund, but could not possibly spare any more. Messages received from Rome, Ga., on Monday, where the chamber of commerce has pledged itself to raise $15,000, told of many interesting gifts.

Little Girls Aid.

One $10 subscription in Rome came from two little girls, six and four years old. They are the children of Mrs. Walter A. Johnson, of Mount Berry and the elder, Martha Berry Johnson, is named for Miss Martha Berry, the founder, head and inspirer of the Berry schools. Her little sister is Eva Margaret Johnson.

Another interesting incident of the Rome campaign occurred when a group of colored men and women called at the chamber of commerce and stated that their race was anxious to contribute. They made substantial gifts, headed by subscriptions from the aged negro who was the body servant of Miss Berry's father during the war between the states, and the old negro mammy who served the Berry family as far back as anyone can remember.

An interesting feature of the work done through Berry schools came to light Monday when it was pointed out that the "Tossus Trot School," the ramshackle shell of a house, hidden among the pine woods of the North Georgia hills, where Miss Martha Berry started, first a Sunday school and later the day school, to maintain children which has expanded into the great institution of today, is still being used as a school and is now taught by one of the graduates of the Berry schools.

"Angel of the Hills."

The work started by Miss Berry a quarter of a century ago in teaching the boys and girls of the backwoods, the very rudiments of education, is known as the "Angel of the Hills," and it is to her that the entire community for miles around looks for help and inspiration. As a prominent Rome citizen expressed it on Monday: "We want to keep this beacon light on the Pecos Trail burning all through the years to come, and it is our earnest prayer that Berry may receive such support that in future she may be able to kindle thousands of such beacons among the North Georgia hills, to guide the feet of our needy but precious boys and girls, into paths of learning and righteousness."

Contributions to the Berry schools endowment fund may be sent either to The Constitution, or to Robert C. Alton, chairman of the board of trustees, Citizens & Southern bank building, Atlanta, Ga. In either case they will be promptly acknowledged.

LAST APPEAL TODAY FOR $250,000 FUND

vestment which will pay premium dividends.

That the removal of the seminary to Atlanta is a city-wide matter in which everyone is interested—individuals and civic agencies—illustrated in the action of Methodist ministers last week in endorsing the project and pledging every aid to their Presbyterian brethren in going "over the top"; in appeals from leading Atlantans of all denominations; in appeals from the Citizens & Southern bank and other similar bodies—none only endorsing the project but in placing workers in the field in an effort to convince Atlanta of the city needs and wants and must have this educational plant.

Other Cities Ready.

As the campaign faltered Saturday and success seemed more distant than at any period since the week's drive, Memphis and Birmingham wired Atlanta leaders that in "event Atlanta falls we want the seminary." These messages were broadcast throughout the city, formed the text of many ministers in Presbyterian pulpits Sunday morning and night, and led to caucuses of leaders and new drive plans to be instituted Monday and today, final days of the campaign, in a desperate effort to win again for this city.

The effect of these messages and the renewed courage and determination of workers resulting in the largest daily total Monday of any day of the drive—$54,400.50.

$15,000 Gift Made.

Large subscriptions Monday which greatly added to the hundreds of small ones included a $15,000 donation by Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Pratt, of Decatur; $15,000 from the Berean church of the First Presbyterian church; $1,000 from R. W. Woodruff (Clifton church); $1,000 from Mr. and Mrs. John W. Gray (First church); $1,000 from Presbyterian Church Sunday school; and $500 from William Dunlop.

Mr. and Mrs. Pratt, Monday's largest donors, are widely known in Presbyterian circles. Mr. Pratt's father was a minister of that denomination and was one of the first leaders of the Decatur Presbyterian church. He is a prominent engineer with offices in the Citizens & Southern bank building.

Mrs. Pratt is a native of Virginia. Before her marriage she was a Miss Baker of Stanton, Va. She is a member of the famous Bullock family and at one time resided in the Bullock home, at Roswell, the early home of Theodore Roosevelt's mother.

"We feel," Mrs. Pratt said, "that we cannot do enough for the seminary. You know our oldest daughter is with her husband, George Taylor, in the Y. M. C. A. work in Mexico City, and that our next daughter, Julia, is a missionary in Brazil. She now is at home with us but will return to South America shortly. Our youngest daughter is in Assembly Training school, at Richmond, Va. The other two Pratt children, both boys, are members of the engineering firm of which the father is head."

Sacrificial Gifts.

The number of sacrificial gifts, a feature of the campaign which has added greatly in stimulating efforts of workers, was increased Monday with tumultuous applause of workers whose son and two grandsons are entirely dependent upon her for support, had forwarded a check for $100. The announcement was greeted with tumultuous applause of workers who assembled again at noon Monday at the Ansley hotel.

Dr. P. M. McRay, of the Decatur church, reported that a man who had saved for many years to build a home for his family had contributed $30.

Needs for our cemetery lots in Hollywood cemetery, valued at $2,000, were turned over to leaders by a donor, who asked that his name be omitted from the list. Gifts ranging from $100 to $5, were received in liberal numbers during the day and, while appreciated immensely by leaders, added up slowly in the face of the large amount yet to be raised.

Ministers Meet.

At a meeting of the Presbyterian ministers at the Y. M. C. A. Monday morning, Rev. J. B. Allen, secretary of trusteeship of the Georgia Synod, who has been working in the interest of the campaign through Georgia, said, "The eyes of all Georgia are on Atlanta. They are expecting Atlanta to set the pace for the rest of the state. If she should fail to make her gift of $250,000, it will be a matter of intense discouragement to the rest of the state."

Rev. G. P. McGehee, of the Decatur church, reported that his congregation was so interested that he offered to contribute $25 and work it out on the buildings. Another minister reported that a man in his church made a similar offer, offering to contribute his services to the extent of $100 working on the buildings. Neither felt able to give money, it was said.

S. F. Boykin, one of the many non-Presbyterian who have contributed to the fund, believing it to be largely a matter of civic concern than of denominational importance, gave $250 on Friday last, his name having been omitted from the printed list. Rev. R. T. Gillespie, president of Columbia seminary, Monday called attention to the opportunity afforded for giving materials, buildings and grounds led themselves to the giving of whole buildings or units as memorials, he says, such groups as the library unit, refectory, students dormitories—which will be built as needed to house students—quarters for married students and homes for married students, and so on, would make a splendid memorial," says Dr. Gillespie, and a splendid opportunity is afforded by the grounds and buildings.

Today Last Opportunity.

Today is Atlanta's last opportunity to contribute. Workers and leaders will assemble at the Ansley at 6 o'clock for a dinner and to hear completion of campaign totals. Any 6 o'clock it is expected that all amounts will have been totaled.

Workers will begin their last day's campaign this morning with faith in Atlanta's ability and willingness to snatch the struggling campaign from its uncertain position and announce to the world that this city is wanting in one of the most worthy projects ever launched in any city.

Those who feel inclined to give today, in any amount, small or large, are asked to telephone to headquarters at the Ansley hotel, or to any Presbyterian pastor or layman. All amounts will be cheerfully received. A few dollars less than the grand total of $250,000 will mean that all efforts the magnificent work of volunteers will have been in vain. That the sacrificial giving has not been of sufficient inspiration, and that Atlanta has passed up for all time a matter which commends itself to all good citizens.

Wednesday will be too late to contribute. There will be no continuing of the campaign, no further letters are concerned or now about. The campaign will end tonight.

What will be Atlanta's verdict, and what will be your donation?

HIGHWAY BOARD REORGANIZATION

include all branches of the highway department.

Holder Urges Probe.

Chairman Holder, in his statement, reiterated his former insistence that a legislative investigation of the affairs of the state highway department is now imperative.

"If I do not care to fire the people with further lengthy newspaper statements," Chairman Holder said in reference to the Anderson charges, "it is as much in my duty to demand that an immediate legislative investigation is necessary. I have from the first demanded that it is the only proper and legal course and I now renew the demand."

In his letters to Chairman Howard Coates, of the senate highway committee, and Mr. H. Turner, chairman of the house highway committee, Chairman Holder said:

Letter to Chairman.

"This highway matter in the light of the direction it has been given, is beyond the scope of merely an alleged moonshiner. It is a matter of accounts by an accountant; it deals with subjects which only the legislature, through a committee, can properly handle."

"President George H. Carswell has held, in a letter to me, that you have the authority to call your committee on highway matters to go thoroughly into an investigation. I fully concur with his ruling and insist now that such a meeting be called at once."

That the standing highway committees of the houses have authority to conduct an investigation of affairs of the highway department at this time is the view of President George H. Carswell, of the state senate. In a letter to Chairman Holder, President Carswell said he did not believe the presiding officers of the two branches of the legislature have authority at this time to appoint a special joint committee to investigate the highway matter.

Senator Coates, chairman of the senate committee, has stated that he is of the opinion that the outcome of the present audit should be awaited before any investigation is started.

The statement of Mr. Anderson printed in The Constitution Monday confirmed the story of his resignation as published Sunday exclusively in The Constitution. Mr. Anderson's resignation had been in the hands of Governor Walker several days prior to the recent disclosures which led to a special audit and at the request of Mr. Anderson he held up acceptance of the resignation until a report of the audit could be filed by J. K. Dawson, private auditor in charge.

Governor Walker declared Monday that he had no objection to the resignation of Mr. Anderson when tendered him and would not give it consideration until after the pending audit is finished by J. K. Dawson.

After the news of Mr. Anderson's resignation was published he issued a statement charging that Chairman Holder is "unfairly and unjustly" holding the position of chairman of the state highway board. He charged that departmental records had been altered and that other irregularities existed although he expressed the view that Chairman Holder had not profited personally from such irregularities.

Good Roads Conference.

A group of citizens interested in highway development in Georgia Monday afternoon held a conference with Frederick H. McDonald, managing director of the Georgia Industrial bureau, to ascertain whether or not that body would again interest itself in passage of a road bond issue measure at the approaching session of the general assembly. The matter was discussed at length and at the conclusion of the conference Mr. McDonald expressed the opinion that the present situation has reached an impasse and that unless some changes are made it will not be possible to proceed along any other line than that at present, and gave the following as a probable basis on which a renewed effort to obtain bonds for the state highway might properly be made.

The state is divided into nine highway districts, each scientifically arranged on a basis of proportional mileage of federal aid roads. On a comparison from each district, making nine in all, would secure a balanced representation and would provide a workable group.

These appointed by the governor of the state, should be able leaders having the interests of the state at heart and the undoubted confidence of their communities. To insure its nonpartisanship, the governor's appointees should be confirmed by the state senate with the chairman elected and from the board, and the office rotating at certain periods among the board's personnel.

Capitalize Tax.

"We could then reasonably expect the state legislature to capitalize the present gas and license tax, and put before the people a proposed bond issue that would permit completion of the entire system within a decade."

"So much for the proper confidence-inspiring highway commission."

"As for the adequateness of the gas and license tax to bond issue, it is said $10,000,000 a year for seven years, figures compiled last year on a basis of a $3,000,000 a year income from the gas tax, would be sufficient to take care of with all interest and carrying charges and provide a sinking fund that would retire the entire issue by 1935."

The present actual income of the state from the gas tax instead of being $3,000,000 as above estimated, for the last year was $4,000,000. It has been running at the rate of $4,000,000 a year and is still increasing.

We have within our reach not only the possibility of adequately representing all parts of the state, and creating a board that would have the confidence of the people, but can proceed with the construction of the highway system within a time that would permit all of us to use it can be more than amply repaid out of the income already provided by existing laws.

The utter demoralization of the state highway system during our recent years has been a sad sight. It is never before that the state is actually suffering from a lack of its completed highway system.

Obstacles Faced.

The obstacle heretofore existing whenever a bond issue has been proposed has been a lack of confidence on the part of the people of the state in the administration of these funds, and the feeling that the gas and license taxes would not be sufficient to provide these funds.

The first of these objections can be remedied and the second now shown groundless.

"In order for Georgia to obtain a quick realization of its already soundly planned highway system, we must have popular confidence in the administration of the system."

A bond issue is essential. But faith in the fairness, ability and probity of those entrusted with its proceeds is an absolute requisite.

"This faith can only be secured by a larger degree of representation than now exists, and by a method of selection of the commissioners and their chairman that would relieve the governor of being alone responsible for the selection and would place beyond the power of anyone to dominate the personnel."

"The first step is a non-partisan highway commission, on which the people of the state have representation, and with a personnel that automatically inspires the highest degree of confidence."

"Too large a board is cumbersome. Too small a board is non-representative and open to the fear of becoming autocratic."

ADDISON PROCTOR DIES

Was Last Surviving Delegate to Lincoln Convention.

Chicago, February 16.—Addison B. Proctor, 87, St. Joseph, Mich., the last surviving delegate to the republican national convention that nominated Abraham Lincoln for president, died here early today at the home of his grandson, Richard H. Proctor.

Mr. Proctor attended the convention of 1860 as a delegate from Kansas. After Lincoln's election, Mr. Proctor became the president's confidential agent in a number of matters.

TWO MEN KILLED IN PITCHED BATTLE

Pensacola, Fla., February 16.—E. T. Bowdoin, federal prohibition agent, and Harris, alleged moonshiner, were killed and two other alleged moonshiners were shot, one fatally, in a pitched battle between the agents and the three men, three miles north of Careyville, Fla., this afternoon, according to a dispatch to the Journal.

JAMES GULLATT DIES AT ST. GEORGE HOME

James Edward Gullatt, aged 62, died Monday at St. George, Ga. He is survived by his widow and daughter, Miss Helen Gullatt of Atlanta. Mr. Gullatt was formerly a resident of Atlanta but left here about 18 months ago on account of ill health. While here, he was employed as city salesman for the Oglesby Grocery Co., the J. J. & J. E. Maddox Co., and the Albright-Prior Grocery Co. He was a member of the Druid Hills M. E. church.

The body will arrive in Atlanta at 7:45 o'clock this morning and will be taken to the chapel of H. M. Patterson and Son where funeral services will be held at 10:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. Rev. H. E. Mays will officiate. Interment in Westview cemetery.

ANOTHER STATE SENATE KILLS CHILD LABOR BILL

Harrisburg, Pa., February 16.—The state senate tonight defeated, 43 to 4, ratification of the proposed amendment to the federal constitution giving congress the right to regulate child labor.

$15.00 Doll for $4.95

When the "Little Miss Georgia" doll first came out, it was sold at $15.00. The Atlanta Constitution closed, it was found that there were a few of these magnificent dolls left on hand. Rather than carry them over to another season, Constitution subscribers can obtain them while the supply lasts at $4.95, which is considerably less than cost.

"Little Miss Georgia" doll walks, talks, sleeps, winks, blinks, rolls her eyes, and does everything else that the premium doll of all times would be expected to do. She is non-breakable, elaborately outfitted: has real hair and is over 24 inches tall.

This doll has recently sold at retail throughout the country at from $12.50 to $15.00.

Atlanta and suburban Constitution subscribers and their friends can obtain the dolls at the city circulation department, second floor, Constitution building. Out-of-town orders filled by mail in first and second zones at same price, but beyond second zone 25c should be added up to fourth zone and beyond that 50c additional. This will be a splendid gift to some little girl.

MORE RAIN TODAY, SAYS FORECASTER

"More rain today, with rains and cloudy weather predominating throughout the week," were the predictions made Monday by C. F. von Hagermann, head of the United States weather bureau here. "Temperatures will be above normal for the first part of the week," he added, "but the weather will be colder the latter half."

Little appreciable change in temperature is expected, and the thermometer will remain above normal for several days.

Monday's rain was the first heavy precipitation for several weeks, but other rains expected during the week will more than make up for the recent shortage. The same heavy weather is due for the greater part of Georgia.

Rain was reported from all sections of the country Monday, although in most cases, the downfall was not heavy. Below freezing temperatures have been predicted for Tennessee and Kentucky for the next few days, and an area of high atmospheric pressure, accompanied by a cold wave is reported to be sweeping the northwest.

EDUCATION BOARD BATTLE PREDICTED

A number of important matters, including final action on the 1925 budget, are scheduled for consideration at a meeting of the board of education, scheduled for last Tuesday, was postponed until today because of the death of A. C. Meixell, member of the board.

A sharp battle is expected on balancing the budget as some members are understood to favor postponing it to September 1, with the amount appropriated by city council last month, while others are said to approve attempting to operate throughout the entire year on the appropriation.

An amendment to rules by which the board would revert to the committee form in effect previous to 1925 also will be taken up. It is expected that the old form will be adopted as many members of the board regard the system in use last year as unsatisfactory, it is said.

Other subjects on the docket include purchase of new lockers; discussion of conditions of buildings and grounds; proposed change in the name of the new senior high school for girls; provision of additional housing facilities at Goldenrod school and all junior high schools, and disposition of the old girls' high school building.

FOUR BOYS FOUND WITH AUTO DENEY STEALING MACHINE

Four boys—all under 16—were arrested Monday night and turned over to juvenile authorities in connection with the disposition of an automobile—a light coupe.

All of the boys deny vehemently that they stole the car. They declare the engine was never running. One of the boys, Johnny Walker, 13, was found at the wheel of the machine on Orange street by Detectives Portwood and McCarry, who found the car belonged to R. H. Middlebrook, of 89 Oak street.

The boys, besides Walker, are Harry old Alden, 14, of 92 Whitehall Terrace; Thomas Tilgore, 15, of 49 Richardson street; and Joseph Terrill, 15, of 92 Whitehall Terrace. All will face the juvenile court today.

Macon, Ga., February 16.—(Special)—Girl Scouts and Girl Reserves planted a large number of poplar trees at Camp Joycliff, near here, yesterday. There were 75 girls in the tree-planting expedition.

In India there flourishes a tree which produces sugary flowers that are used as candies.

Dramatic Appeal Is Made By Herriot to Frenchmen To Protect Nation's Credit

Cooperation by Members of All Parties Required
To Prevent Inflation,
Premier Declares.

BY JOHN O'BRIEN.

Paris, February 16.—Confronted by the threatened collapse of French financial prestige, Premier Herriot has appealed dramatically to all Frenchmen, regardless of party, to help break the paper money shackles that bind the country.

The extent to which Herriot hopes this non-partisan appeal will pervade the country is indicated by the semi-official admission Monday that Joseph Caillaux, convicted of trafficking with Germany during the war, and only recently amnestied by parliament, is one of the premier's advisers during the crisis, which has driven the franc to one-fourth of its face value.

Before crowded galleries and a calm chamber, Herriot solemnly warned France Monday that the moment is one for national cooperation. The premier read his statement from a prepared document, which is unusual with him, indicating the serious nature of the occasion.

Gives Details to Country.
"France has a right to know what are her resources and obligations," he said. "It is the duty of the government to let the country know all the details."

"We are being watched attentively from abroad. The war has changed France from a credit nation to a heavy debtor. The result is that France's independence at home and abroad has been greatly diminished. "At all costs, France must regain her independence. During the war, the state borrowed 35,000,000,000 francs. Our total war expenditures were 144,000,000,000. This is the origin of the present situation. Since 1922, the loans have continued. Although the war was ended, the economic struggle continued in the financial field.

Must Reduce Bank Notes.
"Our policy now must be to pay as much in taxes as possible and to borrow as little as possible. The only road to restoration and liberation of the country is the reduction of the circulation of bank notes. These have been reduced from 23,000,000,000 to 21,000,000,000.

"Confidence in France must be maintained abroad. We must restore the franc at any cost, as England restored the pound. We must follow a policy of healthy money as the only means to give France the authority she needs in international affairs.

"From those found falsifying their income taxes, the government plans to confiscate a portion of their capital equivalent to the amount defrauded.

Avoid Inflation Policy.
"We don't want a policy of inflation. I appeal to all Frenchmen over the heads of parties. The financial problem must be separated from all others. I appeal for confidence and union. I am ready to face attacks on other questions, but not on the financial situation. It would be criminal to expose the life of the country to partisan attacks."

Herriot's plea for national unity was decided upon at a conference which ended at dawn Sunday. Among those who sat with the premier then was Joseph Caillaux who, until a few weeks ago, was an outcast politician, forbidden for the good of the country even to set foot in Paris. Caillaux made his reputation in the cabinet as a financial genius. Herriot's plea for non-partisanship may presage a return to power for Caillaux.

SCIENCE NOW TRIUMPHS OVER COLDS AND FLU

Secret Formula Has Super-Power For Killing Cold, Grippe and Flu Germs. Immediately Absorbed By the System, Quickly Relieves Pain, Reduces Fever and Prevents Serious Complications.

This Formula, Known as "Vick's Grippe Remedy," (Liquid) Now Available at All Drug Stores. A Few Doses Stops Any Case of Cold, Grippe or Flu.

The after-dinner danger from colds, grippe or flu is to be feared more than the disease itself, leaving as it does a weakened bronchial tract that is susceptible to serious bronchial or pulmonary breakdown. This new discovery, Vick's Grippe Remedy (liquid), not only stops the cold, grippe or flu, but minimizes the possibility of a weakened system afterwards.

No matter how severe the cold, how painful the grippe, how aggravating the flu or how frigid you feel, a few doses of Vick's Grippe Remedy (liquid) will bring almost instant relief.

Aside from being a new formula, in liquid form, the system immediately absorbs it and the very first dose relieves grippiness and brings a warm, comfortable glow all over the body.

Vick's Grippe Remedy contains a slight laxative, so necessary in treating colds, grippe or flu, but does not contain quinine, so it can be taken while attending to work, indoors or out-of-doors, with no danger of taking a fresh cold. Your druggist can get Vick's Grippe Remedy for you and will refund your money if it fails to satisfy. Vick Medicine Co., Dept. 10, Albany, Ga.—(adv.)

CHILD'S HOME PLANS FIGHT ON CEMETERY

A special meeting of Fulton county commissioners will be held at 2:30 o'clock today at which time members of the governing board of the Atlanta Child's home will appear to protest against action taken by the commission at its January meeting in granting a permit for a negro cemetery on property adjacent to the child's home.

Other charitable and civic organizations also will have representatives at the meeting.

The governing board will seek to have the permit rescinded on the grounds the cemetery will be detrimental to the institution. The home was founded in 1907 by Frank Mason Robinson. The institution is an orphanage but the majority of inmates have lost either their father or mother and have been left in the care of the surviving parent who is unable to give them the proper rearing.

OFFICERS STUDY DIVISION SUPPLY AT TUESDAY MEET

The regular semi-monthly school for National Guard and Reserve officers will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the auditorium-armory, with Colonel T. W. Darrah, chief of staff of the fourth corps area, in charge. "Supply of a division of the field," will be the lesson tonight.

The difference in supplying a division in its various locations follows directly in the series of subjects which have led up in previous lessons to this point. Colonel Darrah, recognized as one of the most aggressive and thorough division officers, has had charge of all schools and his talks have been heard by scores of National Guard and Reserve officers in this city and many points.

Attendance has been made compulsory upon officers of the 122d Infantry, "Atlanta's Own," by a regimental order signed two weeks ago by Colonel Charles H. Cox, commanding officer.

Only two more schools will be held. Colonel Darrah announces on March 3, and again on March 17. Later, it is stated, another school may open on a different phase of army education.

Referendum on Control Of Schools Is Delayed

Definite action on the ordinance calling for a referendum to decide control of Atlanta's public school system was postponed Monday afternoon when city council voted to refer the matter to the school committee for further consideration. An ordinance had been prepared, which proposed May 6 as the date of the election. Alderman W. B. Dwyall, speaking against immediate action on the ordinance, called the schools "the people's football," and urged that action be held up pending the report of a commission of citizens which is now making a survey of general conditions in all Atlanta schools.

"I want to see what the commission will find," he said. "I do not think that the present method, by which council raises the money but has nothing to do with its expenditure, is right. I do not know what is right, and I think that the question should be studied from every angle before anything is done. The schools constitute too important a department of city government to be disposed of without due consideration, and I think that the ordinance asking a referendum should be tabled or held up pending a report from the commission."

Councilmen Horace Russell and C. D. Knight also spoke against action on the ordinance Monday, and Mr. Knight moved that it be referred to the school committee. Mr. Russell pointed out that the ordinance came before the ordinance committee, although the four other members approved it.

Councilman W. E. Saunders, author of the measure, explained that it was not in any way intended as an attack on the present school administration, but simply an attempt to give the people an opportunity to express themselves on the question, in accordance with a charter amendment passed last summer by the legislature.

The ordinance would have the referendum on two propositions, one of which would leave operation of the schools as at present, while the other would return control of the schools to council, with the mayor and chairman of the school committee and council ex-officio members of the board of education. Under the plan, council also would elect members of the board of education.

Mr. Saunders stated that he had asked school authorities to submit a plan to be placed on the same ballot, but that they had failed to do so.

and that officials of the Parent-Teacher association, after requesting that he introduce their amendment, had failed to furnish it to him. He stated that his sole object in sponsoring the paper is to get the matter settled.

MAYOR WILL NAME VIADUCT SURVEY BODY THIS WEEK

A joint commission of private citizens and members of city council will be appointed this week by Mayor Walter A. Sims to push plans for new viaducts across the railroad tracks at Central avenue and Pryor streets, it was announced by the chief executive Monday afternoon after city council passed a resolution authorizing appointment of such a commission. The size of the body is not specified in the councilmanic request.

Both the mayor and a majority of council members favor construction of the new viaducts, considered the first step necessary in relieving Atlanta's congested traffic conditions. The commission is expected to confer with committees of the state legislature in an attempt to secure passage of a bill at the next session which would give the city permission to build the bridges. As the tracks are owned by the state, such a step would be necessary.

A commission of citizens appointed by the mayor last year made a careful study of the proposal, and the project met with unanimous approval of affected property owners, railroad and street railway company. The commission to be named this week also will investigate conditions and report on what steps would be most effective in securing authority from the legislature.

The two viaducts, with corresponding new level streets on Wall and Alabama streets to connect them with Whitehall, would cost approximately $1,200,000, it is estimated. The cost would be shared by the city, county, property owners, street railway company, and the railroad.

The viaducts have been advocated by Mayor Sims for several years, and were recommended as one of the first necessary steps to cure the present traffic problems in a report of the John A. Beeler organization.

Mother of Five Aided by Police; Money Is Needed

The mother of five children—the oldest a girl, 16, in the junior high school, and the youngest a 6-week-old baby—appealed to the police Monday night for help, saying that she expected to be evicted from her home today because she is not able to pay the rent, and that already, gas and lights had been turned off.

Acting Assistant Chief of Police C. P. Connally had the woman and family taken down to the police station. Then, with the help of Vic Young, head of the Retail Merchants' Detective association, a canvass was made of the crowd that was attending the police board meeting. About $10 in small change was collected. This was turned over to the destitute family.

Then, later, Captain W. F. Perry appealed to his own men and collected about $25 more for the poor family, which was turned over.

And the big-hearted policemen promised to watch out for the Cunningham family. Any subscriptions to aid the family will be received gladly by Chief Jett, or the station sergeants, and turned over to the family.

EAST POINT PLANS FIGHT ON JITNEYS IN COUNCIL MEET

Initial steps to ban jitneys from streets in East Point were taken Monday night when city council unanimously adopted a resolution authorizing the ordinance committee to "prepare an ordinance designed to eliminate jitneys in East Point."

The proposed ordinance will be drafted and presented for action of council on the next regular meeting of that body, the first Monday night in March, it was stated.

Whether or not the ordinance will include all East Point streets in the area which it is proposed to ban jitneys, or specify certain streets on which jitneys will not be permitted to operate, was not mentioned during submission or passage of the resolution.

In addition to the jitney measure only routine business matters were taken up.

BILL INTRODUCED TO PAY BARLOW

he would press for action on it under a special rule.

In a statement, the Michigan representative said that although Mr. Barlow is not yet 40 years old, "practically all of our aerial bombs, manufactured and used during the war and since, have been under the Barlow patent."

The inventor is remitting one-half of his just claim of $600,000 to the government, releasing it from further royalty payments, and distributing the $300,000 remaining to the organizations, the statement continued.

The $300,000 so distributed would be exempted from taxation by the bill.

While serving in the navy from 1904 to 1908, Mr. Williams related, the inventor, "broke the world record for gunnery," aided in introducing the first wireless station in the Pacific, and helped build the first station at Guam. Upon his discharge, he took up aviation, and in 1916, with the aid of the war department, developed his bomb inventions.

GIFT IS ANNOUNCED IN THE CONSTITUTION.

The $100,000 gift described above was announced exclusively in The Constitution of Sunday morning. Mr. Barlow Saturday addressed a letter to Sam Venable, of the executive committee of the memorial association, announcing that he had filed a deed of trust with the war claims committee directing disposition of the $300,000 settlement to memorial projects detailed in the Washington dispatch.

Mr. Barlow is in Atlanta visiting Gutzon Borglum, famous sculptor of the Stone Mountain memorial, with whom he has been associated in the capacity of consulting engineer in a number of artistic structural projects. Mr. Barlow made it plain that the gift is made to Stone Mountain because of his admiration of the gigantic memorial idea and his desire to support his friend, Mr. Borglum, in his greatest work of art.

Crowds Throng Tabernacle For 10-Day Revival Services

REV. F. F. BOSWORTH. REV. B. B. BOSWORTH.

Rev. F. F. Bosworth preaches while his brother, Rev. B. B. Bosworth, leads the musical services. Both ministers are accomplished musicians, playing on a number of different instruments.

Preaching to a large crowd Monday night at the Atlanta Gospel Tabernacle, Rev. F. F. Bosworth, well-known evangelist, who is conducting a 10-day revival here, graphically described the "Fall of Lucifer," showing how the highest of angels had been driven from the heavens because he would not bend his will to that of God. Later he showed Lucifer in the guise of the devil tempting the mother of the human race, and causing her to fall.

The evangelist showed that the greatest sin on earth—the cause of all the woes of the universe—is the fact that man will not surrender his will to that of God, preferring to reserve the privilege of doing some one or more things that are not in accord with divine teachings.

Among the striking things said by the evangelist in support of his statements that the essence of all sin is simply the refusal of man to yield to God's will, were the following statements:

"There was complete harmony in God's universe until Lucifer, the arch-angel rebelled and said 'my will' instead of obeying God's will. This was the first time so far as we know that the harmony of heaven had been disturbed."

"Man is a fool to want other than God's will, for self-will is the basis for all the trouble in the world today."

"Self-will was at the bottom of all the pain suffered on the bloody battlefields of the late World War."

"To do God's will is to remove every obstacle from the way of God and allow Him to pour his blessings upon mankind."

In a sermon many people rose and testified to the healing they had received in the Bosworth and other revivals, and upon invitation to the front of the tabernacle for relief from sin or suffering, there were a score or more responding.

Two services will be held each day, at 7 o'clock in the morning and at 7:30 o'clock at night. It also was announced that the evangelist, assisted by his brother, Rev. B. B. Bosworth, who is the music director, will meet with those who desire prayer a few minutes before the regular night service.

MURDERER CHEATS ELECTRIC CHAIR BY HANGING HIMSELF

Ossining, N. Y., February 16.—William S. Ford, slated to be executed March 19, for murder and arson, hanged himself tonight by a bed sheet.

Among the striking things said by the evangelist in support of his statements that the essence of all sin is simply the refusal of man to yield to God's will, were the following statements:

"There was complete harmony in God's universe until Lucifer, the arch-angel rebelled and said 'my will' instead of obeying God's will. This was the first time so far as we know that the harmony of heaven had been disturbed."

Sign Affidavits.

"These men came to my office and volunteered to sign under oath to the good character and clear record of Sartain and Fletcher," Frick said. They signed. This was after the investigation was begun. Witnesses admit they signed the papers but they were not under oath and that the contents of the paper were not true.

L. B. Foster, superintendent of the dock mill at the prison, testified that Fletcher's character "is good."

Further attacks on Father Hayden are expected. Sartain probably will take the stand this morning. Father Hayden has admitted conspiracy and that he got $12,000 out of it. He has not been indicted.

INQUEST IN DEATH OF RECENT BRIDE DELAYED BY POLICE

Chicago, February 16.—An inquest, opened here today in connection with the death Saturday night of Nina Ruth Harding Pierce, daughter of Robert Harding Pierce, a prominent real estate broker, and a student of the University of Illinois, until her marriage here a week ago to Captain Pierce, son of a Chicago capitalist, was continued to March 5 upon the recommendation of the police, who want more time to investigate the death.

Proceeding inquest, the police, in connection with Mrs. Pierce's death, two physicians testified that Mrs. Pierce was in a condition when they were called Saturday, and was in need of immediate surgical attention. She died shortly after being taken to a hospital. The police had accompanied her to the hospital, remained there for several hours, returned to learn his wife had died and then disappeared.

ENGLISH FUNERAL HELD WEDNESDAY

English has clung despite the encroachment of business hours. Close friends and associates of the beloved man called throughout the day and paid their respects to his memory, and hundreds of messages of condolence were received at the home from Atlantans and from friends throughout the nation.

In addition, bankers of Atlanta, the city administration, civic organizations and citizens individually were showing the deep veneration and respect in which they hold the memory of Captain English by adopting resolutions of sympathy at his death and praise of his long and helpful career.

Declaring that the banking fraternity of Atlanta, the county and state had experienced an irreparable loss in the death of Captain English, and passing resolutions of condolence which have been forwarded to members of the family, the bankers have appointed the following as an honorary escort:

T. K. Glenn, president Atlanta and County National bank; W. W. Banks, executive manager, Citizens and Southern bank; Bolling H. Jones, chairman of board, Fulton National bank; Eugene R. Black, president Atlanta Trust company; and John K. Ottley, president Fourth National bank.

The appointment was made by Snowden McGaughey, president of the Atlanta Clearing House association.

City council Monday passed resolutions of condolence and adopted the death of Captain English, and the United States flag at Five Points and at City Hall will be lowered to half mast until after the funeral and the picture of Captain English, hanging in the council chamber, will be draped in mourning for thirty days.

The resolutions passed by city council follow:

Whereas, Kind Providence, ruler over all things, the Great Disposer of truth and justice, has taken into His fold our beloved friend and patriot, Captain James Warren English, one of our founders and builders of Atlanta, whose death occurred on the quiet, peaceful Sabbath, February 15, 1925:

Resolved, That the city of Atlanta, in mourning for the loss of this noble and devoted citizen, whose memory was ever revered for the upholding of his home and for the general welfare of all who dwell therein. He had officially served this city for many years as its mayor, as police commissioner, and in other ways rendered untold service to this community.

community, and it was these services on the part of this great patriot which transformed the wilderness around Marietta into the progressive metropolis of Atlanta; and, Whereas, Captain English's whole life was one beautiful period of effort and accomplishment, for endurance and discipline, and for beneficence and compassion, and he never permitted anything to hinder him in works of mercy and love. He had not only a head to think, but a heart to feel. He was full of mercy and love, and he was dead to himself and alive to the needs of his fellow-men. To his ear the word "charity" was not a mere word, but a living voice of pleasure as he chanted the golden rule in his heart. Resolved, further, That the portrait of Captain English, hanging in the council chamber, be draped for a period of thirty days; that a page in the records book of the general council be devoted to these resolutions; and that the banner of freedom and liberty upon the city hall and on the flagstaff at Five Points, remain at half-mast until after the funeral services of our beloved citizen.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—and a fresh current through the stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonard, M. D., a specialist, said at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1,000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Jacobs' Drug Stores, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.—(adv.)

STATE OF GEORGIA—COUNTY OF FULTON.

Personally appeared before the undersigned Clifford L. Lochridge, who being duly sworn, deposes and says that he is the Atlanta branch manager of the Aetna Casualty and Surety Co. of Hartford, Conn., and that the foregoing statement is correct and true.

CLIFFORD L. LOCHRIDGE.

Sworn to and subscribed before me, this 6th day of February, 1925.

Notary Public, State of Georgia, Atlanta, Ga.

My commission expires April 19, 1927.

rising took to the bereaved family of Captain English the heartfelt sympathy of this municipality and of the people we represent, and that the city work is instructed to transmit this message of condolence.

Resolved, further, That the portrait of Captain English, hanging in the council chamber, be draped for a period of thirty days; that a page in the records book of the general council be devoted to these resolutions; and that the banner of freedom and liberty upon the city hall and on the flagstaff at Five Points, remain at half-mast until after the funeral services of our beloved citizen.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—and a fresh current through the stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonard, M. D., a specialist, said at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He called his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1,000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at Jacobs' Drug Stores, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.—(adv.)

Piles

Can't Be Cured From the Outside External treatments seldom cure Piles. Nor do surgical operations. The cause is inside—bad circulation. The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby. The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

HOUSE VOTES 20,000
TO MARK BATTLE SITE

The bill was introduced by Representative Salmon, democrat, Tennessee, and Mr. Sherwood, as a member of the house military committee, sought its adoption after inserting a chapter from his book, "Memories of the War," describing the battle of Franklin in which 13 generals were either killed or wounded.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold over night or to cut short an attack of gripe, influenza or sore throat, physicians and druggists everywhere recommend Calomel tablets, the nameless Calomel tablet, that is purified from dangerous and sickening effects. Those who have tried it say that it acts like magic, is far more effective and certain than the old style calomel, heretofore recommended by physicians.

One or two Calomels at bed time will give you a sleep—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with eating, work or pleasure. Next morning your cold has vanished and your throat is healed. Calomels are sold only in original sealed packages, price ten cents for the vest-pocket size; thirty-five cents for the large size. They are sold everywhere and guaranteed by druggists. Your money back if you are not delighted.—(adr.)

Grandmother's Cough Remedy—Pine Tar and Honey—Still Best

A well-known specialist said recently that although many wonderful medical discoveries have been made in recent years, there has never been a better and quicker healing agent for coughs, chest colds, spasmodic cough, hoarseness, throat tickling and all other kinds of throat troubles. The good old pine-tar and honey. Our grandmothers would never be without pine tar syrup in a cupboard, and their raised large families. It still remains one of the few medicines that can be given to young and old alike, as it contains no harmful ingredients.

The pine-tar quickly soothes and heals soreness, irritation, and by its use the coughing reflex is broken, and the coughing. The honey is not only pleasant to the taste but also soothing to the throat.

The kind that has been used with never-failing success in thousands of families for years is the kind known as Pine-Tar and Honey. This is scientifically compounded of just the right proportions of pine tar, honey and other ingredients. It is the kind that the world's best doctors have found to aid in quick relief of all throat troubles.

Pine-Tar Honey. It costs only 20¢ at any good druggists.

Collins' Whole Life Devoted To Exploration of Caverns In Cave Region of Kentucky

Trapped Three Times in Them Before He Was Pinioned Last Time on Friday, January 30.

Cave City, Ky., February 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—Floyd Collins was trapped in Sand Cave at 10 o'clock Friday morning, January 30, by the fall of a boulder upon his foot. His plight remained undiscovered for 24 hours until on Saturday, Jewell Estes, a youthful neighbor of Collins, chanced to hear his cries for help. Then began the strenuous attempts at rescue, employing at various times the efforts of scientific, medical and mechanical skill as well as human brain, brawn and endurance.

Collins was exploring the tunnel of an old cavern, the front part of which had collapsed several years ago, forming the ravine which leads up to the limestone ledge in which the mouth of Sand cave is located. He started to rescue, shortly after he was discovered, that he had located a new cavern which was more wonderful than anything he had previously entered. The boulder fell and trapped him, and he was making his way out. He once previously had been trapped for several hours by a cave-in, while on an exploration trip.

Cave Explorer Since Boy.
Floyd Collins has been a cave explorer since he was a little boy. He was born on a farm five miles from Sand Cave, where the Collins family still lives. As nearly as his father which the ground had disappeared, and finally opened the tunnel sufficiently to permit access in comfort to the cave. Collins, who was a boy of 14, found inside the entrance his trap with the foot of a ground hog still fast in it.

"I kept me scared stiff all the time," his father said. "I told him that some day he would be buried deeper than ever I could bury him, but he kept on exploring."

For three weeks, Floyd had been working on Sand cave, his father said. At first there was nothing but a small crevice, but Floyd enlarged it into the present entrance, about six feet high.

Tried To Dry Out Cave.
Evidence of fires built in Sand cave by Floyd were found by the rescue parties, showing he had tried to dry it out as he worked. The knowledge that he was working on Sand cave led to his discovery about 24 hours after he was trapped, by the fall of a boulder on his foot. Otherwise, buried 60 feet under ground, he might have remained hidden forever.

On his last trip to Sand cave, he had taken along 72 feet of rope with which to lower himself into the huge cavern he said lay behind him. This was the rope found by the early rescue parties and may be lying behind him or fallen into the pit.

Some of those early rescuers who had been in the cave, said they had found a new-found cavern as "the most beautiful I have ever seen."

Geological experts in the rescue party, led by the residents of the region, said that Floyd's Sand cave tunnel is the remnant of a greater cavern, which once occupied the spot where the limestone ledge now is. The ledge, which is the mouth of Sand cave. Many years ago it collapsed.

Learned Some Geology.
A few years after Mule cave was discovered, Ed Turner, a civil engineer from New York, spent eight or ten months exploring the cave country, and taught Floyd the elementary geology he found useful. Between them they located an onyx cave, which also was an onyx cave, and in Salt cave they found an Indian moccasins, one of the prized souvenirs of the region.

By this time, he had started spending his spare time after farm duties in cave hunting. Lee Collins, his father, had taken up trapping and in the winter of 1917, Floyd saw a ground hog disappear into a "sink" on his father's farm. This led to the discovery of Crystal cave, one of the popular lesser caves of the region.

FLOYD COLLINS IS FOUND DEAD IN CAVE

to realize that the goal had been reached. Finally Blevins said: "We're here."

A shout went up to the men at the top of the shaft. Carmichael descended a moment later and then sent for Ed Brenner, of Cincinnati.

It was decided to permit Marshall to attempt to descend through the opening. He was too large to go head foremost, so he felt his way with his feet. They touched what he thought was a wall. Blanket.

"I'll go," Brenner asserted, and with a nod from Carmichael, he was in the hole head first. Five minutes he remained there and then backed out. "Dead," he reported.

Official Statement Made.
Carmichael ascended to the surface to confer with other officials and a moment later the official statement was read.

In order to be positive, however, Brenner made a second trip, followed by Captain C. E. Francis, a medical officer of the 14th infantry, and Dr. Hazlett, of Chicago. Brenner was instructed what to do.

"Does he feel cold?" the physician, who had crawled in behind Brenner, asked.

"How are his eyes?" he was asked. "Sunken deeply," came the reply. "Do you feel any pulse beat in front of his ear?" Brenner was asked.

"No." "Any pulse beat in the right wrist?" "No."

Red Mark on Cheek.
A small red mark was found on the right cheek, caused by pressure, but there were no marks or wounds on the scalp.

A terse statement, signed by the three men who had led scores of others in the long fight, told of the result and paid tribute to their assistants.

After describing the break through the roof of Sand cave and the preliminary investigation of it by Albert Marshall, the statement said:

"His game little partner, Ed Brenner, of Cincinnati, whose work has been very conspicuous and of untold value by reason of his small stature and great strength and iron nerve, went down head-first into this hazardous pit and with a light closely examined the face and position of the man who we understand is Floyd Collins, and called up to Mr. Carmichael, five feet above him, that the man was cold and apparently dead."

The bulletin was signed by Brigadier General H. H. Denhardt, H. T. Carmichael and M. E. S. Posey.

Dead Over 24 Hours.
Dr. Hazlett and Dr. Francis announced that from information they had obtained, Collins had been dead more than 24 hours.

Although the quest for Collins had ended in locating his body, the tired miners, saddened by the realization that they had tried to save a man who had been dead for 24 hours, turned, heavy-hearted, to the still dangerous task of recovering his body.

When, finally, they have brought him from his tomb, Collins' body will be consigned to a grave in the cave, after funeral services under the high stars of a moonless night.

There, amidst its stalagmites and stalactites, his funeral will be held.

The "Will Dynamite Shaft," the rescue workers, however, will be torn down by the hands that built it. The rescue shaft will be dynamited after Collins' body has been removed.

"It is a dangerous place and we must be careful," the statement said.

Chronological History Of Efforts for Collins

Sand Cave, Ky., February 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—The chronological history of the efforts to save Floyd Collins from his underground prison follows:

Friday, January 30.—Collins, exploring Sand cave, discovers marvelous subterranean coliseum eighty feet high, about 300 feet from the entrance of Sand Cave. Climbing out, a rock-shift pinions his left foot.

Saturday.—Collins' plight is discovered by Jewell Estes, son of the tenant on the farm into which Sand Cave burrows.

Sunday.—Torches used to strike stone so it can be chipped easily fall to achieve much progress and Collins begs to be pulled out at cost of foot.

Monday.—Air compressors and drills arrive from Louisville but sandy nature of cavern discourages their use. Collins harnessed but rescuers fail to pull him loose.

Tuesday.—Appeal for troops to preserve order and electric lights taken in, one being hung around Collins' neck.

Wednesday.—Collins reports his foot free but slide cuts off rescue workers. Dr. Hazlett, of Chicago, finds it impossible to amputate Collins' leg so he can be taken out.

Thursday.—Floor of cavern rises and walls close in a few feet ahead of Collins. Last time his voice is heard.

Friday.—Tunneling begun on a shaft about fifty feet from Sand cave entrance aimed to strike the original cavern just above Collins. Radio test indicates Collins still alive.

Saturday.—Rescue shaft progressed 25 feet of the estimated 60 feet to reach Collins.

Sunday.—Fumes of banana oil, strong but harmless, forced into cave but fails to emerge anywhere. Taken as indication no other entrance to cavern.

Monday.—Military court ordered to settle rumors that story was a hoax, but had been "staged" by neglect and that relief work of outsiders had been obstructed by native cave dwellers.

Tuesday.—Court-marshall opens, witnesses assailing hoax theory. Shaft reached the 40-foot level.

Wednesday.—Military court continued. Sound amplifier tests failed for first time to record noises believed to have been Collins' respiration. Banana oil fumes enter shaft from small crevices in bottom of shaft.

Thursday.—Mining drill strikes limestone for first time at depth of 48 feet; limestone thought to form top of Collins' prison. Downward draft felt for first time in shaft and appreciated as indicative of large crevice near shaft.

Friday.—Earth crevice, found at 50-foot level, proves impassable after few feet of penetration. Workers in shaft and tunnel say they heard Collins cough.

Saturday.—Conversation tests between shaft and tunnel indicate they are only a few feet apart. Shaft down 55 1/2 feet at 2:15 p. m. and digging ceased on bottom, while plans for lateral tunnel are perfected.

Sunday.—Seven feet of lateral shaft opened and timbered under great difficulty because of soft mud filled with big limestone boulders.

Monday.—Visiting engineers praised shaft as perfect piece of work. Two military physicians added to those who will visit Collins, as soon as he is found, in an effort to resuscitate him. Start work on limestone roof over Collins.

Workers called it, gave way and at last reached the victim.

Preliminary plans to hold an inquest at the mouth of Sand cave were made this evening. It probably will be six hours, however, before the passageway to Collins can be enlarged sufficiently to permit a first hand medical examination. Physicians then will crawl to Collins and determine, if possible, when he died.

As soon as the body can be brought to the shaft, T. C. Turner, magistrate for District No. 6, will assume charge of it. The body will be brought to the shaft, T. C. Turner, magistrate then will be held for record purposes.

Inquest at Cave.
Turner said a jury might be empaneled at the cave and the inquest completed on the scene of the fatality.

A local committee will take charge of the body after the inquest and it will lie in state at the gymnasium of the Cave City High school for one day.

Whether Collins had been dead 24 hours as indicated in a statement by physicians, based upon Brenner's report, or longer, was expected to be determined when the body is examined.

This examination will have an added significance. Several days after Collins was trapped, an electric lighting plant was installed and wiring run to the cave to the imprisoned man. An electric light globe was placed at his head and after the passage was closed, tests made with a sound amplifier across the wiring, indicated, according to the experimenters that Collins was alive. These tests were made until last Wednesday when they failed.

Globe Not Burning.
The globe was in the socket when the body was found, but was not burning. At the time the tests failed, it was said the globe either had burned out or had fallen from the socket.

When the sound amplifier failed, all communication with Collins' tomb ceased. On last Friday, however, miners making soundings in the passage reported they had heard Collins breathing. He also was heard to cough, the miners testified before the military court of inquiry called by Governor Fields to investigate Collins' plight. That was the last time there was any indication as to whether Collins was alive or dead.

FUNERAL IS PLANNED INSIDE CRYSTAL CAVE.
Cave City, Ky., February 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—Funeral services for Floyd Collins are planned for Crystal Cave, his greatest discovery, and he will be buried on the hill-top overlooking the mouth of Sand Cave and the shaft down which the heroic band of volunteers raced with death to reach him. It was decided today by Lee Collins, aged father of the cave explorer.

In Crystal Cave, which Floyd discovered in 1917 on his father's farm a few miles from Sand Cave, is a huge crystal auditorium, 250 feet high, and this will be Floyd's burial chapel, Mr. Collins said.

Almost constantly Mr. Collins and his wife, Floyd's stepmother, have awaited within sight of the cave mouth, and then at the shaft mouth, hope and praying, a faint glow and thanking sadly those friends who came to bring word of cheer. Homer, Floyd's youngest brother, was for a time permitted to wait in the shaft, but when the hour of rescue drew near, he was replaced by a more experienced miner, and once had to be forcibly restrained from joining the three-man squad being lowered in the bucket.

The simplest of formalities in line with the plain, simple lives of the Collins family will mark the funeral services. After eight days, Floyd's aged father admitted his hopes for his son's rescue were growing faint and he began to talk of plans for the last rites for his son.

Even then he always added—these were always conditional—"in case they don't get him out alive."

Almost constantly Mr. Collins and his wife, Floyd's stepmother, have awaited within sight of the cave mouth, and then at the shaft mouth, hope and praying, a faint glow and thanking sadly those friends who came to bring word of cheer. Homer, Floyd's youngest brother, was for a time permitted to wait in the shaft, but when the hour of rescue drew near, he was replaced by a more experienced miner, and once had to be forcibly restrained from joining the three-man squad being lowered in the bucket.

The simplest of formalities in line with the plain, simple lives of the Collins family will mark the funeral services. After eight days, Floyd's aged father admitted his hopes for his son's rescue were growing faint and he began to talk of plans for the last rites for his son.

It was frequently commented that his untiring energy and practical engineering knowledge had been a source of much inspiration for the tired workers.

MRS. BLAINE GRIEVED BY NEWS OF DEATH.
Chicago, February 16.—Mrs. Emma Blaine, Chicago philanthropist, who sent two surgeons to Cave City, Ky., at her expense to be ready to give any aid possible to Floyd Collins, who was trapped in Sand cave, received with sadness today the news that he had been found dead.

"It is very sad," said Mrs. Blaine, who said she was sorry that she would say through her secretary.

Mrs. Blaine, widow of a son of James G. Blaine and daughter of Cyrus McCormick, inventor of the reaper, was so moved by Collins' plight that she sent Dr. W. J. Hazlett and Dr. Harold Jones, of St. Luke's hospital, to Cave City. Dr. Hazlett has remained there ready for any emergency. Dr. Jones returned several days ago.

ADJUTANT GENERAL KEHOE COLLAPSES INTO FAINT.
Cave City, Ky., February 16.—Adjutant General James A. Kehoe collapsed into faintness at dusk tonight while talking with a group of men. The adjutant general, prostrate on the ground, was hurriedly given first aid medical attention and removed to a tent adjoining the Red Cross hospital unit.

A few minutes later, it was announced that Kehoe was weakened from long hours during the nights and days preceding discovery of the body of Floyd Collins and had fainted from exhaustion and that his condition was not serious.

The field lies ten miles on the opposite side of Cave City from Sand cave. The field is not alone, neither is it level. The sides and ends slope greatly toward the center.

Five airplanes were at the field for the dedication exercises at which former State Senator William Henry Jones made a brief address.

GOVERNOR W. F. FIELDS TO ATTEND FUNERAL.
Frankfort, Ky., February 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—Governor William F. Fields announced tonight that he would attend the funeral services for Floyd Collins at Sand Cave, to convey the deep sympathy of Kentucky and the country to the Collins family.

Barnesboro, Pa., February 16.—Thirteen-year-old Frank Grankowsky lost his life last night while playing "Collins-in-the-cave."

The boy was caught by a heavy fall of rock and dirt in an abandoned mine to which he had led a number of companions on an "exploration" trip.

Vicious Attack Is Launched Upon Mrs. Stokes' Character

AGED NEW YORK MILLIONAIRE HAS DAY IN COURT

BY HAROLD ANDREWS.
United News Staff Correspondent.
Chicago, February 16.—"A vicious babler, a careless wife and mother, spending the money supplied by her husband to care for their children to send him to a prison cell, to make him an outcast of society..."

An interruption from an attorney for the state, who protests that the speaker is "arguing his case, not outlandish it." The judge wearily, almost mechanically, waves his hand, indicating that the objection is overruled.

And Charles F. Rathbun, employed by W. E. D. Stokes, the New York hotel owner and railroad tycoon, to keep him out of the penitentiary on a charge of defaming the character of his former wife, Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes, continues in an unrelenting crescendo of denunciation.

It was the opening speech to the jury, the first opportunity that the defense had to bespatter the picture of Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes as a sweet, loving wife and a tender mother, as painted a few days ago by the attorneys for the prosecution. Rathbun availed himself of every opportunity.

The companions escaped and summoned aid. Rescuers dug for several hours before the crushed body was recovered.

Gleaming, Glorious Teeth
Gums like coral to contrast them

Do you seriously seek the charm they bring? Then please accept this remarkable dental test. See the marked difference 10 days will make. It's simply a stubborn film on your teeth which ordinary ways fail to remove, and which this NEW way overcomes safely—scientifically.

DULL teeth, "off-color" teeth; gums that are softening, lack firmness—modern science has made important, new discoveries in overcoming them.

Now, in as little as ten days, you can work a transformation in your mouth, can add immeasurably to your appearance and attractiveness.

This offers you a test without charge... the most remarkable, according to dental authorities, of all dental tests. In fairness to yourself, send the coupon.

FILM—your enemy. How it invites tooth and gum troubles

Dental science now traces scores of tooth and gum troubles, directly or indirectly, to a germ-laden film that forms on your teeth.

You can't see it with your eyes, but run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel it... a slippery, viscous coating.

This film absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc. And that is why your teeth look "off-color" and dingy.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It lays your gums open to bacterial attack. Germs by the millions breed in it. And they, with tartar, are a chief cause of pyorrhea and decay.

Attacks by Gas in Next War 50 Times More Important Than in Last, Expert Says

Raids With Gas Bombs
Weighing From 25 to 100
House Committee.

Washington, February 16.—Brigadier General Fries, chief of the chemical warfare service, told the house aircraft committee today that gas attacks in the next war would be "50 times more important" than in the last, picturing raids where from 25 to 100 tons of gas bombs would be dropped to the confusion of the attacked area.

From 10 to 20 tons of gas bombs to the square mile, dropped from the air, he said, would entirely destroy everything within that area.

Weeks, Wilbur Summoned.
Aroused by testimony from experts on both the active and reserve lists of the army and navy that the United States is deficient in air power, the committee today called upon Secretaries Weeks and Wilbur to send representatives before it to show how the war and navy departments could adequately defend the nation against an attack from the air.

This decision was unanimously reached in executive session, and the secretaries' representatives were requested to appear at 2 p. m. tomorrow for questioning behind closed doors.

Gas Valuable Adjunct.
Asked as to the effect of aerial gas bombing on a battleship, General Fries said he believed explosive bombs would cause enough damage without using gas, which, however, would prove a valuable adjunct.

Phosphorus or poison gas bombs, he asserted, would drive the crew from the deck of a ship and if the ship's ventilating system were damaged by shell fire would cause injury to the vessel.

New Smoke Screen Gas.
The general told the committee that the chemical warfare service had developed a smoke screen gas, which could be used down by swiftly moving planes, and thus enable large bombing planes to approach very closely the surface area. Such gas would be very effective, he said, in shielding an attacking squadron from searchlights at night.

Major Thomas D. Milling, chief of the army air service officers' training school, who was the first witness, said Secretary Wilbur had "minimized too much" the value of aircraft in the world war.

He also differed with the secretary's views on the range of aircraft, pointing to the expansion of the range in the last ten years.

Asked his opinion on a statement by Mr. Wilbur, that air raids in the world war were "sporadic" and did little more than intimidate citizens, Major Milling replied that only 25-pound bombs were dropped at that time while bombs ranging from 100 to 4,000 pounds would be used in future wars.

Out of Adjunct Class.
He also declared aircraft had reached a stage where it was of prime importance to both army and navy, not merely a "useful adjunct."

The witness endorsed a unified air service, which is opposed by both the war and navy departments. General Fries said an army undeveloped against gas in the next war would be as "utterly helpless as a naked savage undefended against machine gun fire," and added there was no "real answer" to gas, except gas, as there was no "real answer" to the airplane, except airplanes.

Glenn L. Martin, of the Martin Aircraft company, testified the aircraft industry was partly dependent upon the government for support and advocated governmental aid to only such aircraft companies as possessed a personnel which would be capable of rendering satisfactory service in an emergency.

JAPAN BACKS CHINA AT OPIUM MEETING

Geneva, February 16.—(By the Associated Press.) Japan again came forward in support of China when the international opium conference, convened to discuss the question of the production of opium in China with that of illicit traffic in opium.

Opposition had been voiced from England also, Finland withdrew the resolution which suggested that the forthcoming international conference on the opium traffic should study the effect of unauthorized dealings in arms on the opium problem.

The resolution in effect held that the cultivation of the poppy plant in China was responsible for the civil strife, as it furnished the Chinese military leaders with the money with which to buy arms.

Mr. Sugimura's defense of China was a spirited one. He declared the western world evidently misunderstood the resources of this great nation, China, with her great arsenals and her immense supply of raw materials, including coal and iron. Moreover, he added, several of the great powers, including the United States, had a convention to stop the illicit traffic of arms into China and they were loyally executing it. He concluded with an appeal to the delegates to cease talking about the recrudescence of opium growing in China because the Chinese, having left the conference, could not defend themselves.

In withdrawing the resolution, Mr. Tolva, of Finland, insisted that he had not intended to wound China. Sir Malcolm Delevigne, of Great Britain, while favoring the dropping of the Finnish resolution, declared England had considerable sympathy with its objects by evidence existing to prove that the same syndicates which were engaged in smuggling opium out of China were likewise engaged in smuggling arms into that country. The conference next tackled the problem of how the anti-opiatic board should be chosen. Italy proposed that the selection be left entirely to the league of nations council and favored making the board one of eight instead of seven members. The Germans announced that if Germany were not assured a seat on the board she would request to resign the convention.

SHERIFF G. E. JENKINS TO BE LAID TO REST

Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock today for Sheriff G. E. Jenkins, 33, of Fairburn, who was killed in a car accident when he was riding turned over near Palmetto. Services will be held from the First Methodist church.

Addressing a large group of representatives of leading civic and commercial organizations of Atlanta at the February meeting of the Secretaries' club Monday at the Wincoff hotel, George B. Post, general manager of the Huff-Daland Dusters, Inc., announced that leaflets containing recommendations of the Athens convention's farm program and urging diversification of crops will be distributed throughout the state by airplane. Mr. Post is a former navy flyer and will personally direct activities of the 18 planes in this work which the company will operate this summer for dusting cotton.

"We believe so strongly in the Athens program and especially in that part concerning diversification of crops," stated Mr. Post, "that we shall urge in all possible ways that the farmers observe it. Fundamentally, our interests and those of the planters are the same. We therefore have a very valid reason for not desiring to see a vastly increased cotton acreage that might spell ruin for many farming communities."

Mr. Post said his company would be obliged to make their headquarters in Macon because of the fact that Atlanta was not provided with a suitable airplane landing field.

"The program was especially in brief addresses by W. R. C. Smith, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce; George S. Harris, president of the Atlanta Employers' association; Kenneth Keyes, secretary of the Atlanta Merchants and Manufacturers' association; and O. H. Mickel, secretary of the Atlanta Master Printers' club.

WILLIAMS TO SPEAK

Dr. L. K. Williams, president of the national Baptist convention, will speak tonight at the Ebenezer Baptist church, Dr. A. D. Williams, pastor.

President Williams is making a tour of Georgia, visiting Rome, Augusta, Savannah and Macon, arriving in Atlanta today from Macon. He will speak in the interest of the work of the National Baptist convention.

FINAL RITES HELD FOR S. E. JORDAN

Funeral services for S. E. Jordan, 51, former resident of Atlanta, who died Saturday at his home in Chicago, Ill., were held here at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon at the chapel of H. M. Patterson & Son, Dr. Charles W. Daniel, pastor of the First Baptist church, of which the deceased was a member, conducted the services. Interment was in West View.

Mr. Jordan moved to Chicago from Atlanta about two years ago. He was a member of the Palestine lodge, No. 637, F. & A. M. He is survived by his widow.

SIMPLICITY TO MARK
FRED UPHAM FUNERAL

Chicago, February 16.—Simplicity will mark the funeral services of Fred W. Upham, financial genius of the republican party and Chicago businessman, who died yesterday at Palm Beach, Fla.

The ceremony will be held at 3:30 p. m. Friday at the Episcopal church, with the Rev. Norman Hutton, the pastor, officiating. There will be no singing, no flowers and no honorary pall bearers, said George F. Getz, in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Upham's body will be placed temporarily in a vault, with its final resting place to be determined. The body will leave Palm Beach tomorrow night and arrive in Chicago Thursday. It will be taken to Mr. Upham's apartment to rest there until the funeral Friday.

Eight of Chicago's leaders in business and politics have been named pall bearers. They are Clifford D. Caldwell, Stuyvesant Penobscot, Samuel Insull, William Wrigley, Jr., Frank O. Lowden, Ralph Van Vleet, A. D. Lasker, B. E. Sunny and M. Geiz.

UPHAM'S BODY LEAVES
PALM BEACH TONIGHT

*Palm Beach, Fla., February 16.—The body of Frederic Upham who for a score of years was looked on as financial wizard of the republican party, and whose death occurred here Sunday, will leave here tomorrow night for Chicago, where it is due to arrive on Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The body will travel in the "President," the personal car of President Samuel M. Felton, of the Chicago Great Western railroad, friend of the Upham family, who is spending the winter here.

It became known here today that Congressman Allen Moore, of Monticello, whose term at Washington will expire March 4, will have the support of Governor Len Small's state administration for republican national committee man from Illinois to fill the vacancy created by Mr. Upham's death.

Some supporters of Senator-elect Charles S. McNary have estimated that Ray O. West, secretary of the national committee and political aid of Denoon for many years, should have the position.

APPLICATIONS FOR MARRIAGE LICENSES

The following applications for marriage licenses were posted in the office of Fulton county ordinary Monday:

R. S. Echols, 23, and Mary Eunice Putnam, 22; and George W. DeLoach, 30 of Birmingham, Ala., and Bertha Palmer Wood, 19.

SENATE COMMITTEE APPROVES HUMPHREY

Washington, February 16.—The nomination of William E. Humphrey to be a member of the federal trade commission was approved today by the senate interstate commerce committee.

The vote of the committee was not unanimous, senators said, although a record vote was not taken. The nomination has been in the hands of the committee for several weeks, and Mr. Humphrey was called here to explain his relations with the department of justice during certain litigation.

Senator Smith, democrat, South Carolina, chairman of the committee, said nothing of a "questionable character" had been found.

The nomination of Thomas F. Woodcock, of New York, as a member of the interstate commerce commission was not taken up today by the committee, and no date was set for its consideration. This nomination is opposed by southern senators.

SOUTHERN PARK BILL IS PASSED

Washington, February 16.—A senate bill directing the determination of boundaries of proposed national parks in the Blue Ridge mountains of Virginia, the Smoky mountains of Tennessee and North Carolina, and in the Mammoth Cave region of Kentucky, was passed today by the house.

The measure, which now goes to the president, authorizes the secretary of the interior to decide whether additional parks should be created.

The interior secretary would have authority to receive definite offers of donations of land and money and to secure options on land in the areas he decides should be set aside for park purposes. The bill, however, stipulated that he must submit a report to congress.

To assist the secretary, a commission of five members, one to be representative of the interior department, the others to be national park experts to serve without pay, would be named.

An appropriation of $20,000 would be authorized to pay expenses of the commission and to defray the cost of security land.

The bill, similar to a house measure unanimously reported by the public lands committee, has the approval of President Coolidge and Secretary Work. The commission which would be created, would be charged, with the secretary, with the duty of determining if any, in addition to those specified should be established in the south Appalachian mountain region.

VETERAN RESCUES
DOG THAT SAVED
HIS LIFE IN WAR

Chicago, February 16.—When Horace Love, torn by machine gun bullets, was waiting for death in No Man's Land, a dog saved his life. Yesterday he saved that dog.

Love, now a student at Northwestern university, was severely wounded while fighting in the Argonne, when the dog, Bolivar, then working for the German Red Cross, found him, went back to surgeons and brought him to the stricken man. Later American forces captured the position, and when Love returned home he brought Bolivar. About a month ago Love, with another student, lost Bolivar while on a hike. For days they searched in vain. Meanwhile, reports were brought in that a wolf had been seen.

Yesterday, Love still at his quest, was stopped by a policeman because his automobile lacked a license tag. At a suburban station he explained his search.

"Why, we've a dog like that," the sergeant said. "Caught him—it took half a dozen of us—after he had scared folks on the roads. He looks half starved; he's scheduled to be shot in the morning."

Love said Bolivar was brought in. He was a skeleton. But he cleared the room in one bound and almost floored his master with his joyous assault. There will be no execution.

Sons Identify Their Father After 25 Years

Memphis, Tenn., February 16.—Henry C. Koenemann, Philadelphia leather dealer who disappeared from the Pennsylvania city 25 years ago, was joined today by his two sons, Joseph Koenemann and H. C. Koenemann, Jr., who hurried from Philadelphia to Memphis when a man known here as "Henry C. Schwenk," had been identified as their father. Koenemann, recovering in a hospital from a stroke of paralysis, recognized his two sons.

Announcement was made that both men, themselves prosperous business men of Philadelphia, would remain with their father indefinitely, or until he was able to travel and return with them to Pennsylvania.

The coming of the two sons failed to throw light on the reason for Koenemann's departure from his home a quarter of a century ago.

"We have little information," one of the sons told newspapermen. "We do not know why he disappeared. He was a devoted father and husband, and known here as "Henry C. Schwenk," had been identified as their father. Koenemann, recovering in a hospital from a stroke of paralysis, recognized his two sons.

Again The Constitution Demonstrates Its Supremacy In The News Field

¶ Only readers of The Atlanta Constitution received the news Sunday of the resignation of a high state official and a magnificent gift of $100,000 to the Stone Mountain Fund. These two stories of state-wide interest appeared Sunday only in The Constitution, the readers of the other two Atlanta papers not being informed through their columns of these two outstanding news developments until Monday afternoon.

¶ On Sunday, February 8th, The Constitution was the only Atlanta paper to publish the sensational charges, since proved true, of payroll padding in the State Highway Department. No other Atlanta paper published this story until 36 hours later.

¶ On Sunday, February 1st, The Constitution was the only Atlanta paper to publish a first-hand story from the heart of the flood district in South Georgia.

¶ The Constitution was the only Georgia newspaper to send a news representative and a photographer to the scene of the greatest flood in the history of South Georgia.

¶ And thus the record piles up. For 50 years The Constitution has been printing the news First, Exclusively and Accurately.

¶ It is this record, established through nearly 50 years of service, that has caused The Constitution to be acknowledged, both at home and abroad, as The South's pre-eminent news gatherer.

Brilliant Supper Dance Follows Junior League Follies Premiere

Following the initial performance of the Junior League Follies at the Atlanta theater Monday was the supper-dance at the Biltmore, assembling a brilliant gathering of Atlanta society, including members of the "Follies" cast.

Supper was served at individual tables placed around the handsome ballroom of the hotel. Vases of bright-colored spring flowers adorned the center of each table, while groups of palms, ferns and foliage plants banded the corners of the ballroom and orchestra loft.

Cabaret acts by starring members of the Follies cast featured the occasion, alternating with dancing by the guests.

Miss Mary Ann Lipscomb and Frank Harrell gave a snappy and attractive dance number, involving many intricate steps. Miss Lipscomb was a dainty figure, wearing a gown of white beaded chiffon, trimmed in jade green ostrich feathers.

Miss Douglas Paine and Larry O'Neal were a graceful pair, dancing a charming tango. Miss Paine's gown was a Patou model fashioned of white chiffon applied with myriads of single violets.

Her Beauty Secret-

Her eyes are sparkling and clear with a beautiful depth of color. Everyone says that her wonderful eyes are her chief attraction. This is the reason: She takes care of those eyes. When she's reading or sewing or embroidering, there's a pair of Hawkes' shell rimmed spectacles resting comfortably on her nose. She can pull 'em off instantly and they leave no mark. And that's why her eyes are always so clear and bright and young.

Burned Evidence

By MRS. WILSON WOODROW

SYNOPSIS.
The story is being told by young Dandridge, junior member of a New York firm of lawyers. Old Jerome Fodick, one of the richest of the firm, invites Dandridge to lunch at his home. The young lawyer is interested in the old man's granddaughter, Sara, a beautiful young society woman, who is Fodick's sole heir. Fodick tells Dandridge that his death is a South American woman appeared at the Fodick home with baby Sara, whose mother, the nurse said, had died soon after the baby's father. Fodick had investigated the woman's story and found it to be true.

INSTALLMENT XIV. ANOTHER MYSTERY.

Inspector Curran recovered his pencil, and tapped it against his teeth. "I can't remember any woman forger." He seemed to be thinking aloud. "Of course, Miss O'Connor might have smuggled someone else in, or, for that matter, be working with Herbert. Herbert?" He squinted his glance at the ceiling. "I've got to keep my eye on that bird, not omitting the other two. Coming back to the secretary, though; the man who's been watching her trailed her to a queer part of town the other day, and then lost her. He says she threw him off like an old hand at the game. I switched him, and put a fellow on that she won't be able to dodge. Herbert, on the other hand, has made no suspicious moves; and the housekeeper hasn't been away from the house."

"Certainly, I will do what I can."

The bit of information about Miss Mouse surprised me. "But," I expostulated, "Miss O'Connor was the one who told me of Mr. Fodick's connection with the detective agency."

"Well, the agency didn't hand us much, did they?" replied Curran. "She probably knew they couldn't."

I wondered now, sitting there in the drawing room, if Sara's cryptic remark to the effect that she also suspected some member of her household was directed at the secretary.

"Frankly," I said, "Curran thinks the enemy in the camp is either Mrs. Hays, Herbert or Miss O'Connor."

If she felt either surprise or annoyance at this statement, she did not show it. "That doesn't require much intelligence," she said coolly.

"Which is it?" I whispered across the tea table. "I'll tell you, when I know more about it."

Bewildered or hurt, a man invariably turns to his cigarette case. It creates the diversion, the pause necessary for readjustment. With Sara and myself, only a day or so ago, it had been, "The little more, and how much it was." That afternoon, for no reason that I could imagine, she had placed me at an immeasurable distance. With only the tea table between us, warmed by the same fire, I had yet been relegated to the planet Mars.

I reverted to the inspector as a shield to hide my wound. "Curran would like to know how your grandfather happened to engage both Herbert and Miss O'Connor."

She wrinkled her forehead. "I think Mr. Herbert brought letters of introduction; I've forgotten from whom. And no doubt Miss Mouse had recommendations and references. They would be in the document safe, I suppose. But, of course," sarcastically, "they wouldn't be got at for ages, because of the barred red tape fence about it."

"O, I spoke to Curran about that today," I broke in, meekly glad to have a chance at tit for tat. "I told him that, my practice being a purely civil one, I had advised you to the best of my legal knowledge; but, nevertheless, I had a pretty certain conviction that, through some procedure of criminal law with which I was unfamiliar, he would be able to get at the safe and the deposit boxes."

"You didn't tell me anything of that sort," she flashed back. "I waited to be certain first. Curran says there will be no difficulty about it. He has only to go down to the district attorney and get an order to open the safe."

"And when will he do it?" Her palms were pressed together so tightly that the flesh showed white around them. "Probably very soon. He said, in a day or so."

"Oh, you men! Manana por la manana! With the clippers in your hands you stroll around the red tape fences, and then sit down to rest a while, when—when—?" She checked herself, and let her lids droop over the lightning of her eyes.

"I'm sorry," she sprang up impulsively, and, coming from behind the table, stood by the fire smiling at me. No matter what she did or said, she could always rely on that irresistible, repentant smile to win her full and free pardon. The distances between us vanished; I was no longer on Mars. "Forgive me. You have been so kind, so thoughtful; and I—O, well, if you don't know it already, you'll soon learn it; I'm a hellion!"

"I like 'em," I, too, had, risen. "I always have been crazy about hellions."

She showed the tips of her white teeth, wrinkled up her nose, and then the perplexed lines showed in her forehead again. "Oh, it's all such a muddle! We're all stumbling about in a blind alley, even your praiseworthy inspector. But I'm going to explore it to the end. There's a door hidden somewhere in the shadows; and I'm sure—sure as that your name is Anthony Dandridge and mine is Sara Fodick—that Adelbrock holds the key."

"Then let's explore it together," I begged. "Give me your confidence. I have felt all this afternoon that you are holding back something you know or suspect. Tell me what it is. We can't any of us play a lone hand; we must all work together."

"O, yes," with enthusiastic mockery, "let's all work together, and talk, and talk, and get nowhere, and do nothing." "We're at cross purposes this afternoon, I'm sorry I came. Good-bye."

She didn't say a word, make a gesture or detain me; just touched my hand, and let me go. And I turned up my coat collar and tramped miles through the snow, telling myself over and over that Sara Fodick would have to whistle pretty loudly before I returned. Overtures would have to come from her. I was through.

And then, the next night, when I was sitting up late toiling over a brief, my telephone rang and her voice, hurried, agitated, sounded over the wire. Even through so ghostly a medium, it set my heart to beating faster.

"O, Mr. Dandridge, are you there? I know it's a frightful imposition, but can you come up? Someone broke into the museum tonight, drilled the document safe, and all my heirlooms and jewels are gone."

"Good Lord!" The document safe? Are your grandfather's files disturbed? Those letters, you know."

"Ah-h!" Her voice broke in a gasp. "I don't know. I have just discovered it."

"I'll come immediately," I told her, "and bring Curran with me." I called him up then, and was lucky enough to get him without delay. At my news his low whistle sounded through the telephone.

"Right on the job, aren't they?" he said. "Do you know—? But no use asking questions now. I'll pick you up in my car in ten minutes." Arriving at the house, we were shown into the library. Sara was not there, but Herbert and Miss O'Connor were.

"Perhaps, since Miss Fodick is not here," Curran said to Herbert, "you can give me the details of this robbery."

"Eh? O?" Herbert came to a stop beside the table and looked at us with harassed eyes. "Certainly, I will do what I can. Miss Fodick says she came in late, and noticed that the connecting door between the two houses was slightly ajar. She began to investigate, and discovered that the door of the room holding the document safe was unlocked and the safe itself was open. She roused me then, and I dressed hastily and came down. I don't know what to say about it." He looked utterly nonplussed.

"The keys to all the rooms of the museums were on a ring which never leaves my person. There they are." He unhooked the chain from his vest and laid a bunch of keys on the table.

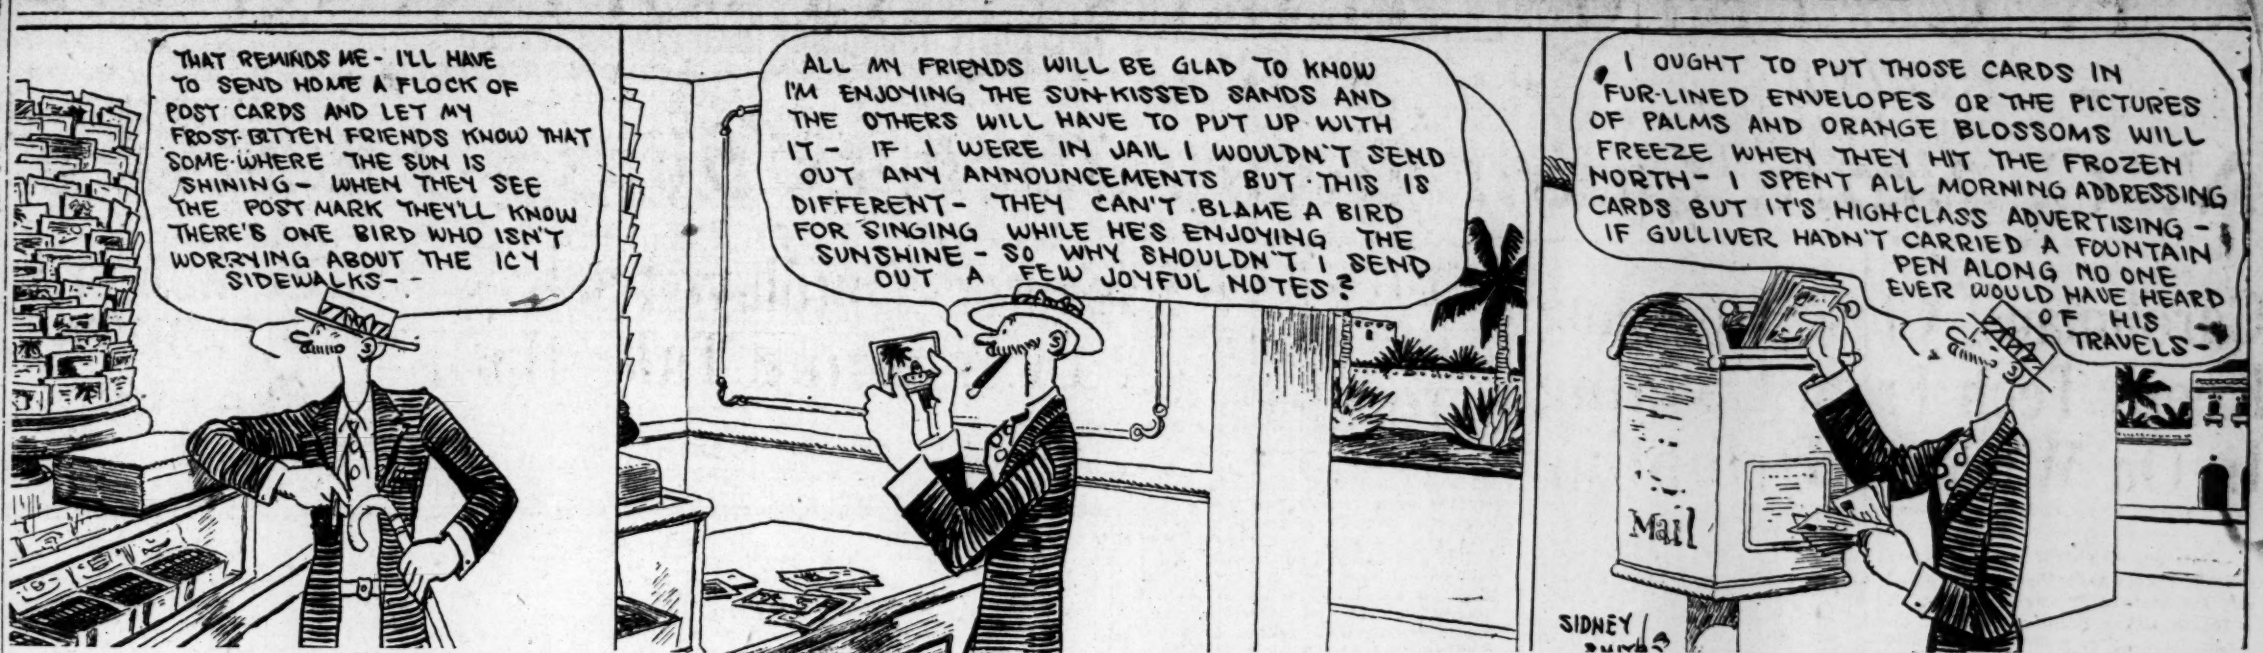

Again that bewildered look. "It's incredible, impossible. But"—he threw out his hands—"it happened." He sat down wearily. "You can understand the state I am in," he said.

"Were you at home all evening, Mr. Herbert?" the inspector asked in his mildest, most confidence-inspiring tone.

Kinging the Belle.
I gave her a ring,
And I felt rather grand, sir.
She was such a sweet thing
That I gave her a ring,
For I wanted to cling
To my darling entrancer.
I gave her a ring—

But they told me: "No answer."
—Joseph Staats.

The Interrupted Lover.
"Twas late one night he spoke to her;
He voiced his love with eloquence.
He hoped her tenderness to stir
When late at night he spoke to her,
Nor reckoned what did occur—
Her folks overheard and drove him hence.

The Reader's Mistake.
A country editor in the northwest printed nothing but local happenings in his little weekly paper. But for the sake of balanced headlines he had three big heads standing on the front page:

LOCAL HAPPENINGS
ITEMS HERE AND THERE
THINGS WORTH NOTING.
Every once in a while some of his foreign subscribers would get angry at him and he didn't know why. But it always happened when a news item about them had got in the column called "Things Worth Noting."

"Why do you put news about me in der column named 'News Not Worth Noting'?" an angry subscriber asked.
Then the editor changed the name of the column to "Items Worth While." —P. J. Baird.

THREE CHAMPIONS.
Babe Hogan, shaking a speedy leg:
Was champion skater of Winnipeg;
She met Cap Higgin (and his toboggan)
The champion slider, from Copenhagen.
"I greatly admire you Winnipeggers," Higgin said, "in your shapely leggings."
"Go slide you, toboggan," Babe Hogan bade Higgin.
"For I am engaged to a jealous Chicagoan."
His name is Tobe Eagan and he is a big 'un—
"Chicagoan Tobe Eagan," Babe Hogan told Higgin:
If Tobe hears your braggin' of Babe Hogan's leggin,
And such lollygaggin', with gags about luggin',
Tobe Eagan, the big 'un, will crack your noggin.
And, further, Tobe Eagan will bust your toboggan!"

Read the WINTER WILLIES carefully today.
Because, within a few weeks, we shall launch WILD WILLIES as a regular feature in THE FUN SHOP, and a series to which you will be asked to contribute.
You may start sending some now, if you wish, but more detailed instructions will accompany WILD WILLIES when officially presented as a series.
Note today's TONGUE-TWISTER poem.
These poems have proved tremendously popular—in fact they are developing something of a "vogue" or "craze."
We can't get too many of them from you, remember.

Readers are invited to contribute. All humor—epigrams (or humorous mottoes), jokes, anecdotes, poetry, burlesques, satires and bright sayings of children must be original and hitherto unpublished. Accepted material will be paid for at the rate of $1 a $10 per contribution and from 25 cents to $1 per line for poetry according to its character and value in the judgment of the editor. Unaccepted contributions cannot be returned. All manuscripts must be written on one side of the paper only and should be addressed Constitution Fun Shop Headquarters, 250 Park Avenue, New York City.

N. C. State Quint Beats Jackets by 35-12 Score

Carolians' Close Guarding Keeps Tech From Cashing In On Wycoff's Dribbling

Raleigh, February 16.—Apparently rusty from a long train trip, Georgia Tech's basketball team was not equal for the close guarding North Carolina State quint here tonight and fell an easy victim to the locals, 35 to 12, at the Frank Thompson gymnasium.

Tech counted first from the foul line but five baskets from the field in quick succession by State players brought the score to 10-1 before Tech could rally. In a brief spurt featured by field goals by Moore and Wilde and fouls by Wycoff and Moore, Tech brought the home to 12-8. State sprung again and the half ended 16-9 in favor of the locals.

The second half was a State party and lasted 16 minutes. Wycoff looped a goal from the floor that was Tech's first score for this period. Barran added a foul goal near the end of the game.

JUDGE LANDIS BOGASH WINS PONDER CASE FROM TIGER OF DOLAN ON FOUL

New York, February 16.—Commissioner Landis today intimated he would "consider very carefully" an application for reinstatement from Cozy Dolan, former coach of the New York Giants, who was banished from baseball, along with Jimmy O'Connell, after the bribery scandal of last fall. Landis made this unexpected revelation after a conference with District Attorney Barton on the results of the latter's recent investigation into the bribery scandal. Afterward Mr. Barton announced that his inquiry would be continued, and also that Landis had offered to produce any major league ball player desired for examination, as well as to defray all expenses involved.

Dolan's status, the commissioner indicated, has proved a knotty problem, as much as the former coach has denied consistently any connection with the attempt to bribe Heinemann. Philadelphia shortstop, although O'Connell, in his confession of the attempt, accused Dolan of instigating the deal. In addition, no other evidence against him than his alleged evasiveness on the subject has been found. Landis was reluctant to discuss this feature of the case but said he was giving Dolan's position the "most careful study." While declining to give any hint of what steps he had in mind, he intimated he would give every consideration to an application for reinstatement from Dolan.

AVERA IS GIVEN DECISION OVER KEN BURRIS

Charlotte, N. C., February 16.—(Special.)—Larry Avera, junior welterweight champion of the south, took six of the ten rounds here tonight to gain the decision over Ken Burrus, of Wilmington. Avera was easily the master of his foe and early in the first round dropped him with a right cross. Burrus, however, was up before the referee could begin counting. Burrus was credited with only one round, the other three being even.

GIRLS' LEAGUE OPENS TONIGHT

In the absence of Atlanta's major basketball teams from the city the girls of the Sunday School league will open up a brand new league tonight at 7 o'clock on the Georgia Tech court when four games will be played. There will be 13 amateur games in the city tonight.

Six games will be played on the Y. M. C. A. court in the Sunday School league, while Epworth teams play there.

The schedule follows:
Westminster vs. Central Presbyterian, at 7 o'clock.
Gordon Street Presbyterian vs. Druid Hills Presbyterian, at 7:15 o'clock.
Epworth Methodist vs. Triple E Class, at 8:20 o'clock.
North Avenue Presbyterian vs. Anchor Class, at 8:40 o'clock.
Y. M. C. A. Court.
Druid Hills Presbyterian vs. Central Presbyterian, at 8:30 o'clock.
Friedmont vs. T. N. T., at 8:50 o'clock.
Jackson Hill vs. Grant Park, at 7:45 o'clock.
Gordon Street Presbyterian vs. Oakhurst, at 8:05 o'clock.
Druid Hills Baptist vs. St. Paul, at 9:00 o'clock.
G. S. P. Feds. vs. Wesley, at 9:20 o'clock.

HOKE SMITH QUINTETS WIN

Hoke Smith Junior High basketball teams won a doubleheader Monday afternoon on the auditorium court. The Hoke Smith boys defeated Central Bass five by 15-11 score and the girls won from the Bass girls by a 17-13 score.

Both games were close all the way. Bluestein and McDaniel played best for the boys, while Hirsch and Corlie played best for the Smith girls.

PAL MORAN LICKED BY BOBBY TRACY

Buffalo, N. Y., February 16.—Pal Moran, of New Orleans, lost the decision in a six-round bout here tonight to Bobby Tracy of Buffalo. Rocky Kansas, of Buffalo, won the decision in a six-round bout with Red Cap Wilson, of New Orleans. Kansas injured both hands so seriously that he probably will not take part in the elimination bouts for the lightweight championship. Moran weighed 135 1-2 and Tracy 135. Kansas weighed 134 1-2 and Wilson 136.

DUKE SEEKS SUCCESSOR TO JONES In Winning Title--Harris

This is the thirty-eighth installment of the autobiography of Stanley Harris, youngest major league baseball manager in the history of the game, and the victorious strategist and one of the outstanding players in the 1921 world series, in which his Washington club won the pennant for the first time. The rise of Harris from colliery boy to big league manager in eight years is one of the most remarkable life stories America has ever produced.

BY STANLEY (BUCKY) HARRIS.
Manager World Champion Washington Senators.
(Copyright, 1925, in United States and Great Britain by North American Newspaper Alliance. All rights reserved.)

The Giants outbatted and outfielded Washington in the series. They batted, as a team, 261 to our 246. They fielded for an average of .980, sixteen points better than Washington. Because of these cold figures I have often been asked how it happened that we were victorious. We won because, in the first place, we could play the game. We had the right mental attitude. To this confidence we added the ability and the balance. We didn't know what the word quit means.

Every man did his share. Peckinpah won the second game with a double and made a wonderful stop and a timely hit in the sixth contest. He was an inspiration to us in this needed victory. He had the best batting average of the club and fielded perfectly. Judge played a sparkling fielding game and was a terror to the New York pitchers. He was really our leading hitter in point of average. Gooden was close on his heels. He put us in the lead with a homer in the second game. He accounted for enough runs in the fourth contest and set up the series. Rice made a spectacular catch in the sixth hit and prevented the Giants from winning. McNeely's speed on the attack in this game put us in a position to win. His hit won the last game.

Blue showed he is a coming star in the fielding plays of the series in the last game. He caught a perfect ball and delivered in the pinch in the deciding struggle. Liebold also helped win the final battle. Taylor and Miller did well under difficulties.

I have been asked why I didn't try the squeeze play in the ninth inning of the seventh game when Miller was at bat with Judge on third. Bluege was first and out. The reason was that he was not a good batter. The squeeze requires an almost perfect bunt or it fails.

Shirley and Tate, also recruits, held up their end. Nick Altore and Al Schacht were a great help in keeping up the spirits of the club with their antics. They also proved valuable on the bench. The score was 10-9, as the pennant race. Neither of our coaches acted as signal tippers. A coach is generally too busy watching his men on bases and the ball to learn or catch signals of the opposition.

Zachary-Mogridge Stars.
Zachary and Mogridge, both left-handers, were our most effective pitchers. The former won two games. He had the Giants fooled all the way. Mogridge helped him in one. The latter was our star relief pitcher, who as he had been throughout the pennant race. Mogridge won one game. The surprise of the series, of course, was the two defeats of Johnson. "Natural," I figured before the first game that he had a better chance to stop the New York club than either left-hander. He finally came through in the dramatic wind-up.

Our pitchers had no exact knowledge of the strength and weakness of the New York batsmen. We were careful with their best batters and learned as we went along. We had a good line on them. I ordered Young passed twice to get Kelly. His home run off Johnson in the first game had been a fluke. Johnson had struck him out twice in that game and again in the fifth struggle.

I found that the duties of a manager interfered with my play in the world's series. The responsibility made me try all the harder. I outdid myself, I guess. I set a world's record for a manager by winning a second baseman with 54 my credit. I made another series mark with 263 putouts. I had a batting average of .333 and drove in seven runs with 11 hits.

Learned Folly of Worry.
The job of manager sat light on court with an entire all-Athens team. This city is strongly represented with material among the indoor artists of Coach Stegeman. A probable team to open the season will be as follows: George Morton and Buster Kilpatrick, forwards; Jake Butler, center, with Cutch Moll and Walter Forbes at guards. Horse Harris and Armand Mapp are also native Athenians and are likely to play.

The Bulldogs held a light workout Monday and Tuesday night. The Bulldogs held a light session today, tapering off the preparation for the game in good style.

Although losing to the Atlanta Athletic club last night, the Bulldogs exhibited good form and are determined to turn back the Tigers last week, in their own back yard, the Tigers were forced to take a drubbing after a brilliant attack was staged by the Red and Black in the final half.

Rumors here are to the effect that Coach Stegeman will open the game with Auburn and the new basketball court.

Ellijay, Ga., February 16.—(Special.)—A return game with the Auburn Tigers will be played here by the Georgia Bulldogs Wednesday night when the new basketball court will be opened.

STRIB LEAVES FOR FIGHT IN SAVANNAH

Savannah, Ga., February 16.—With Ted Jameison, Milwaukee "trial horse" and his manager, Fred Saddy, on their way to Savannah and Young Stribling and his family starting out today from Macon in their new "pulsman-auto," boxing fans here are awaiting the meeting of the Wisconsin man and the Georgian here Friday night.

Early indications were that the municipal auditorium here would be insufficient to handle the crowds and officials of the 118th field artillery, sponsoring the bout, have secured circus seats to augment the capacity of the house.

Jameison and Stribling will complete their training here Wednesday and Thursday. It will be the first meeting of these two men. Jameison, who stayed 15 rounds with Tiger Flowers, won twice from Jack Reardon and defeated many top-notchers, in addition to fighting Gene Tunney, a 15-round no-decision bout, is regarded as the most formidable opponent Stribling has met below the Madison-Dixon line since he fought Mike McTigue in Columbus.

Savannah, Ga., February 16.—(Special.)—Young Stribling, accompanied by his parents, spent a short time here this afternoon en route to Savannah. They are traveling in their new house-car and expect to reach Savannah Tuesday noon. The fighter appeared in fine condition and ready for his next pugilistic encounter. Stribling has met below the Madison-Dixon line since he fought Mike McTigue in Columbus.

EVERS SIGNS TO COACH GIANTS

New York, February 16.—The New York Giants today announced they had signed Johnny Evers, former manager of the Chicago Cubs and White Sox, to coach the team. Evers, who served in a similar capacity in 1920 prior to signing to pilot the Cubs.

MARIETTA FIVES EASY WINNERS

Marietta, Ga., February 16.—The Marietta High school basketball teams defeated the Cartersville High school teams in a double bill played on the local high school court Friday night. The girls had an easy time running up a score of 30 to 6 while the boys took their game with a 40 to 18 score.

The visiting girls started off fairly good but gave up when they saw what they were up against. Although the boys' game was a little slow it furnished plenty of excitement. For the first eight minutes of the game Cartersville had Marietta 4 to 0, but lapping every man at least once and passing Gunnar Nilsson, fellow countryman twice on the eleven lap track.

Willie Ritola, Finnish-American A. C. star, won the three-and-one-quarter mile special, bettering the world's outdoor record for the distance by 31 seconds in 4:44 4-5 and at the two mile in 10:09 4-5.

Ritola's mark, like those made by Nurni tonight, will go down on the record books under a new classification as world's indoor dirt track records. Ritola was clocked at the mile in 4:44 4-5 and at the two mile in 10:09 4-5.

Ritola's record, which is one of the most remarkable bits of running ever seen by A. A. U. officials, indoor or out, was made against virtually no opposition on an indoor dirt track at 11

Bean Outfit Scores 37-31 Victory Over Fast 'Y' Five In Rally in Second Half

Coach Joe Bean's Jewish Progressive club marked its dedication of the new $55,000 gymnasium and basketball court at 270 South Pryor street last night with a brilliant victory over the fast 'Y' five of the J. P. C. quint from South Georgia. It was also the 14th victory for the J. P. C. quint this season.

The exercises opened with a band that played the national anthem and then several prominent members of the Jewish Progressive club that have made short speeches. Then the basketball quint from Albany made its appearance on the floor led by Captain Hardy, who immediately scored one.

Son after the Albany quint came on the floor the Jewish Progressive club came on, led by Captain Seigel, a guard on the J. P. C. quint, who failed to shoot a goal in his first practice trial and if old omen that reads, "A bad beginning makes a good ending" is worth anything it meant something. The capacity crowd that packed the Jewish Progressive club court last night for a victory resulted in the first game.

Albany Scores First.
Albany quint was first to score, when J. Smith, the lanky guard, sank a foul goal called on the local captain. Seigel, a guard on the J. P. C. quint, then sank a field goal from the center of the court and a battle of the season, for it was a case of first one to play when waiting sank a goal during the entire first half. The half ended with a tie score of 13 points each and the crowd nearly went wild while the timekeeper snapped the gun four times and then finally had to use several whistles to stop the hostilities.

During the intermission Coach Bean who left the court with both hands sunk deep in his pockets from cold chills caused by such a close score, warmed himself up and also imparted some ready-to-use basketball knowledge to the J. P. C. basketweavers.

It was a different story all during the second half after the first minute play when waiting sank a goal shot that put Albany in the lead. That lead was short lived as the locals began a shooting attack from the center of the court that was beyond the human eye to follow. In fact those shots were the result of some hard practice and an accurate eye on the baskets plus a lot of words from Coach Bean that only the players heard during the intermission.

Albany Stages Rally.
That long distance shooting attack of the locals took the pep out of the Albany quint for the time and with the score 23 to 14 against it the South Georgia quint called time out and then with a renewed determination began an attack that worried the locals no little. Another time out was called and the situation was reversed with the locals on the scoring end and the last rally was in full progress when the game ended.

For eight minutes during the last half Albany failed to shoot a single field goal, but after time out was taken it was a different story.

To pick out any particular stars would be an injustice to the others, but it must be said that the clever work of Finkelstein, under the baskets, who scored 16 points was worth mentioning as was the guarding of Seigel and Rosenberg.

Captain Hardy and Hester were the wheelhorses for the visitors, Hester leading with 11 points and Hardy doing the brilliant passing, greatly aided by the good floorwork of J. Smith. Finkelstein (16)..... Pos. ALB. Y. (31) Seigel (8)..... G. .... Hardy (8) Spellberger (8)..... F. .... Dorfan (3)..... C. .... Hester (11) Seigel (4)..... G. .... Whiting (1) Rosenberg (6)..... G. .... J. Smith (9)

Field goals—Finkelstein 8, Spellberger 3, Hardy 2, E. Smith 2, Hester 5, J. Smith 4. Foul goals—Dorfan 1 (out of 2), Finkelstein (0 out of 1), Hardy (2 out of 4), Hester (1 out of 2), Whiting (1 out of 1), Smith (1 out of 1). Substitutions—None. Score at end of half, J. P. C. 13; Albany, 13.

Nurmi and Ritola Hang Up New Records on Indoor Oval

Philadelphia, February 16.—(By the Associated Press.)—Paavo Nurmi, the Finland flash, continued his victorious campaign on American indoor tracks tonight when he raced to a decisive victory in the two mile special feature event of the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy games in the 100rd cavalry armory. His time was 9:30 2-5.

Nurmi's time will go down as a world's indoor dirt track mark as the books fall to reveal any records made under similar conditions on an indoor oval. He completely outdistanced the field of four starters, lapping every man at least once and passing Gunnar Nilsson, fellow countryman twice on the eleven lap track.

Willie Ritola, Finnish-American A. C. star, won the three-and-one-quarter mile special, bettering the world's outdoor record for the distance by 31 seconds in 4:44 4-5 and at the two mile in 10:09 4-5.

Spartanburg, S. C., February 16.—Manton I. Steele, 18, freshman at Wofford college here, dropped dead while boxing with Harry Turner, also a student at the college, in the main dormitory of the school late today.

Only a few light blows had been struck by the boxers, when Steele suddenly collapsed and died, it was said. A coroner's jury attributed the youth's death to a heart attack and absolved his opponent.

Steele's parents reside in Olan, S. C.

Nazimova
(At the Metropolitan.)

Picture lovers have a treat at the Metropolitan theatre this week, where "The Redemptive Sin" opened last night. Nazimova is the star of this production, and Nazimova is at her superlative best.

The celebrated actress plays the role of a "queen of the Paris Apaches," a part that gives her an excellent opportunity to display her remarkable emotional powers and her decided talent as a dancer.

All the scenes are laid in Paris, the story having to do with an underworld gang in the French capital.

Lou Tellegen plays opposite Nazimova in the role of the Apache leader, and, like the star herself, undoubtedly gives the finest performance of her career. "Our Gang" comedy is a peach. Leide and his orchestra render a group of French melodies for overture.

"Top of the World"
(At the Rialto.)

There is so much to be said for "The Top of the World," that the only way to prove it to yourself is to see this Paramount picture. The audience Monday at the Rialto theatre, where the film had its first Atlanta showing, was often thrilled, constantly interested and frequently amazed during the projection of this screen play.

"The Top of the World" is loaded with dramatic dynamite which explodes with a terrific bang at the height of one of the most realistic and exciting storms ever put into a motion picture.

Acting honors fall to the lot of Anna Q. Nilsson, who scores a distinct personal triumph in the role of the heroine, a girl who gives an uncommonly fine performance in a dual role and others.

The comedy, "The Top of the World," is as funny as the title suggests. Pathe news is interesting.

First $1,000 Burglar Is Captured Monday; Rogers Ready To Pay Reward on Conviction

Patrolmen G. M. Burks and I. B. Howard shown with their prisoner, Charlie Long, a negro, who is charged with looting one of L. W. Rogers stores at 304 West Fair street. The picture also shows the goods, taken from the store, when the officers surprised the alleged thief. An official of the Rogers chain of stores Monday night stated that the $1,000 will be paid over on conviction of the negro.

Patrolmen G. M. Burks and I. B. Howard, just before dawn captured the first $1,000 burglar, when they surprised Charlie Long, negro, in the act of robbing one of the L. W. Rogers grocery company chain stores at 304 West Fair street.

The officers' good luck, however, was not due to the fact that the burglar was caught. As to the reward they are not optimistic. The chances are that the money will be paid over to the police relief association in cases where council specially authorizes acceptance of rewards by the individuals making arrests.

The alleged burglar was captured in the rear of the Rogers store on Fair street, according to the officers, who stated Monday that he had pilfered a large quantity of groceries at the rear door preparatory to removing them.

The negro is said to have admitted his guilt.

Due to numerous burglaries of their several stores in recent months, the Rogers company offered to pay $1,000 for the apprehension of any one found robbing any of their stores. An official of the Rogers chain of stores Monday night stated the money would be paid on conviction of the negro.

"The only way Officers Howard and Burks can receive this reward, individually, is for the police committee to make such recommendation to city council and that body authorized payment to them," Chief Jett stated Monday night.

assigned to duties where many captures were made. Others did not have the opportunities.

And so a rule was passed by council, barring awards to policemen, unless considerable red tape is unwound. The money goes to the police relief association except in cases where council specially authorizes acceptance of rewards by the individuals making arrests.
